LANDIS IMPEACHED BY OHIO CONGRESSMAN

REVISION OF TURKISH PEACE TREATY TO BE DISCUSSED BY ALLIES

Adoption of Principle of Moderation Declared Only Way of Settling Peace

ANNOUNCEMENT OF HARDING POLICY EAGERLY AWAITED

Peace too Long Delayed Declares Turkish Crown Prince

CONSTANTINOPLE.—By The Associated Press.—Hope that allied delegates would enter the Near Eastern conference to be held in London next week with a compromising spirit was expressed here Monday by Abdul Medjid Effendi, heir presumptive to the Turkish throne. Only by such an attitude on their part would it be possible to establish peace in the Near East, and he said it might be too late to insure an end of hostilities if the Turkish nationalists have made any military agreements with the Russian bolsheviki. He indicated that Turkey was awaiting with interest the development of the Near Eastern policy of President-elect Harding.

"What is most needed at the Near Eastern conference in London," the crown prince declared, "is common sense and moderation. If the conference should be opened in such a spirit it would be possible to settle the Turkish question, but it is to be noted that the Greeks are divided; that the Turks are not united, although their division is more apparent than real, and that the allies may not be in agreement.

Peace Too Long Delayed

"The Turkish peace has been delayed too long and perhaps it is now too late if the Turkish nationalists have a military agreement with the bolsheviki.

"If the allies admit the impossibility of destroying the Turkish race, it is probable we can find a common ground for negotiations. The main point of the allies is to stabilize control of the Bosphorus and the Dardanelles, and we will be willing and glad to conclude an accord on this subject.

"Turkey should follow a policy of peace and not mix in the quarrels of Europe. It was with the utmost difficulty that I was able to prevent a declaration of war against the United States and protect Robberts college and other American interests in Turkey. There is so much anti-Turk propaganda in the United States that I doubt whether anything I may say will receive any attention there. I trust, however, that President-elect Harding will, when he assumes the presidency, quickly renew relations with Turkey and not follow President Wilson's policy toward this country, for instance, his policy regarding the boundaries of Armenia."

Oppose Revision

PARIS.—Revision of the Sevres treaty between the allies and Turkey is being strongly opposed by former Premier Venizelos of Greece, he declared in an interview published by the Parisien. M. Venizelos denies reports that his fight against any alteration of the Sevres pact is evidence that he has entered into relations with King Constantine of Greece.

MILWAUKEE DECLARED DISTRIBUTING POINT FOR ILLICIT LIQUOR

MILWAUKEE, Wis. — Evidence that Milwaukee is one of the distributing points of whiskey smuggled from Canada was vouched for by government officials here with the seizure Monday of a quantity of whiskey at the Northwestern depot and the visit to the city of A. C. Graham of Detroit, federal prohibition director for Michigan and Frederick H. Gardner of Chicago, agent of the customs department which investigates reports of smuggling.

150 RESCUED FROM FIRE THAT DESTROYS MINNEAPOLIS HOTEL

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn.—More than 150 guests at the Miller hotel, in the downtown district, were added to safety by employes and firemen when fire, starting in a store on the first floor, threatened destruction of the building early Sunday. Forty of the guests, including fifteen women, were overcome by smoke and carried down ladders by firemen.

FORMER CHIEF OF SECRET SERVICE DIES

NEW YORK.—The death of Andrew L. Drummond, 76, former chief of the United States secret service, noted for his investigation of the original Klu Klux Klan, was announced today. He died at his home in Brooklyn Saturday.

Follow Lincoln Road To Peace Advises Speaker

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., — The example of Lincoln's tolerance and innate sense of justice," in his treatment of all international problems, offers the world the "only sure, straight road to peace" Ambassador Pezet, of Peru, declared Saturday in delivering the annual address before the Lincoln Centennial association here. Because in foreign as well as domestic questions Lincoln sought the full truth before committing himself, he added, his "deeds are remembered and he grows with the years in the hearts of all peoples."

"Let all statemen take Lincoln for their model", he said, "and the causes of many wars will vanish like morning mists in the sunlight. In this sense Lincoln belongs not only to the American people, but to all just men everywhere."

Recalling Lincoln's course in resuming diplomatic relations with Peru after they had been severed during President Buchanan's administration as the result of a controversy over Peru's seizure of two American vessels charged with contraband trading Ambassador Pezet declared this to be typical of the acts of international justice which had earned the "reverence and love" of all Latin-American peoples for Lincoln's memory.

SAILSTAD'S FIRM IS IN BANKRUPTCY IN FEDERAL COURT

MUSICAL INSTRUMENT COMPANY HE HEADED IN FINANCIAL STRAITS

Insurance Companies Refuse to Pay Life Policies

The Multitone Manufacturing company of Eau Claire, whose president was M. J. Sailstad, alleged to have burned to death in his summer cottage but who, it is claimed, left the state and country with his stenographer, Miss Nina Anderson, has filed a petition in bankruptcy with Clerk of the United States Court Alfred Harrison of this city.

The company, which made musical instruments, lists assets of $186,721.08 in its petition, while liabilities scheduled total $195,804.13.

Included in the list of assets is an item of $15,000 life insurance held by Sailstad in the Travelers Insurance company of Hartford, Conn. Insurance companies have refused to pay life insurance policies held by Sailstad on the ground that he is still alive, their operatives, it is claimed, having traced the manufacturer and his stenographer as far as Superior after the fire which destroyed the summer cottage. Bones of a human body found in the ruins of the summer cottage are believed to have been exhumed from a graveyard and planted in the cottage before it was destroyed by fire.

TENTH DAY FINDS WAUKEGAN GIRL STILL TALKING

WAUKEGAN, Ill.—Miriam Rubin, the eight-year-old girl whose incessant talking has puzzled physicians, was prattling steadily on this, the tenth day of her strange malady. It was announced however, that the manual spinal treatment which last night gave her a period of sleep, would be resumed this afternoon.

Miriam slept Sunday night soundly from 8:30 p. m. until 10 o'clock and dozed restlessly from the latter hour until midnight. Physicians said her strength and normal functions were continuing at a remarkable rate, but that her vocal chords were showing signs of the strain.

HADDAD SENTENCED TO YEAR IN PRISON; OTHERS HELD GUILTY

Court Declares Wife and Man in Office When Crime Was Committed are Also to Blame

HOTEL PROPRIETOR KEPT AN ALLEGED DISORDERLY PLACE

Judge Says Officials' Laxity Cause for Resorts Flourishing

MASSIAD HADDAD, found guilty of conducting a disorderly house at his European hotel, 216 North Second street, was sentenced to a year in state's prison by Judge Higbee in circuit court this morning.

Haddad, when called before the bar and asked if he had anything to say before sentence was passed, stood silent before the court. His attorney, Otto Schlabach made a plea for clemency, pointing out that his client had been convicted on the testimony of witnesses who had deliberately told untruths. District Attorney Reid called attention to remarks made by a man whom the defense wished to call as a character witness but who said that if he took the stand what he would say would be a detriment to Haddad's case.

In passing sentence Judge Higbee said:

"It is to be regretted that you must pay the penalty alone. Your wife and the man who was working there in the office, are equally guilty in this crime. You have children who are growing up, and going to school and are a credit to any man. It is to be regretted that this will bring them any grief.

"If I were to parole you others who are conducting such places in this city, as I am informed there are, would look upon this court as a joke. Because of the laxity of officials such places are allowed to run but it is the judgment of this court that you serve one year at hard labor in the penitentiary."

After he had been sentenced Haddad was led from the court room by Sheriff Miller. He was seated at the head of the stairs leading to the second floor, conferring with his son and S. Markos when he fainted and slipped to the floor. Sheriff Miller and Undersheriff Lund carried him to the sheriff's office. Dr. E. E. Gallagher was summoned and administered restoratives.

Efforts to learn whether abatement proceedings, to close Haddad's rooming house because it is alleged to be a nuisance, would be started, were futile, as Mr. Reid, the district attorney had left the court room a few minutes after sentence was passed and later left the city.

PRESIDENT-ELECT ASKS CONGRESS TO PASS MONEY BILLS

WASHINGTON.—President - elect Harding telegraphed congressional leaders Monday urging that congress at this session pass the regular appropriation bills so that the special session of the new congress to be called soon after March 4 will be free to deal with other important matters that come before it.

Representative Mondell, republican leader in the house, replied that the house would pass the last of the appropriation measures by Thursday night. Senator Lodge, republican leader in the senate, telegraphed Mr. Harding that he appreciated the importance of clearing up the appropriation measures and that every effort possible to that end was being exerted.

DAUBERT WON'T SIGN

POTTSVILLE, Pa. — Jacke Daubert, first baseman of the Cincinnati Reds, has returned unsigned his contract calling for the same money he received last season. He says he will not sign without an increase.

HOTEL GUESTS BURN

GRAND VIEW, Tex.—James McDonald, 47, and Paul Lockhart, 18, were burned to death in a fire in the Commercial hotel here Monday. Forty other guests had narrow escapes.

Rumania Ready To Talk Peace With Russians

VIENNA, — The Rumanian government, according to a dispatch from Bucharest Monday, has accepted Reval, capital of Esthonia, as the seat of the peace negotiations between Rumania and soviet Russia.

Reports that soviet Russia and Rumania were about to begin peace negotiations were current in London last week. A wireless dispatch from Moscow asserted Rumania had requested the soviet government to send delegates to Riga for preparation of a program for peace negotiations. The dispatch added that Rumania had been advised by the British government to enter such negotiations. This latter assertion however, was contradicted in British official circles.

The reports current within the last few weeks that soviet Russia intended a military campaign against states on her western border the coming spring have named Rumania as one of the reputed objects of the attacks said to be contemplated. The outstanding differences between the Moscow and Bucharest governments are chiefly over the disposition of Bessarabia, which has been for a long period in Rumanian possession and has been generally recognized as Rumanian territory.

IRISH ARE BLAMED FOR MILL FIRES IN BRITAIN SATURDAY

Eight Fires Started at Night Discovered Before Much Damage is Done

SUSPICIOUS CIRCUMSTANCES REPORTED BY WATCHMEN

Sinn Fein Accused But Positive Proof is Lacking

MANCHESTER, England.—A number of simultaneous outbreaks of fire in several mills and factories in Manchester, Failsworth, Royton and Rochdale Saturday night were accompanied by suspicious circumstances, such as the employment of inflammable liquids and the fleeing of men acting suspiciously, some of whom were fired at. The circumstances led to the belief that the fires were the result of Sinn Fein activity, although there were no proofs of this.

Sir Robert Peacock, chief constable, considers that he has obtained convincing evidence that the fires were the work of 'Irish irreconcilables."

No Serious Damage

No serious damage resulted from the fires, each of them having been quickly discovered and quenched. In each of the eight fires started entrance to the buildings was gained by breaking of windows. Rags, soaked with petrol, were employed to start the fires.

Many empty receptacles which previously had contained petrol were found in the vicinity of the fire.

At the Holt oil works the watchman was confronted by three men, who pointed revolvers at him and threatened to shoot if he attempted to raise an alarm. When this watchman endeavored to escape, six shots were fired at him, but none struck him.

JOHN OTT GETS GLASSES HE LOANED TO NAVY IN WAR

John J. Ott, 1512 Winnebago street, loaned his field glasses to the navy department in 1917, when this county was at war with Germany.

Today the field glasses were returned to Mr. Ott, coming back through the postoffice department.

The glasses showed signs of hard wear, although coming back to Mr. Ott in the original silk bag in which they were sent.

LOTS OF JOBS ON FARMS ANNOUNCES "REINIE" SCHULTZ

"REINIE" SCHULTZ, head of the state free employment bureau in La Crosse, on Monday announced that there is a big demand for farm labor in this district.

"I have jobs for fifty men right now," said he. "At the rate the applications are coming in there will be many more before long."

Mr. Schultz said most of the applications for men were from this district, but that the same situation is felt all over the state, and that he could send men to jobs practically anywhere in Wisconsin they might prefer.

FIFTY INITIATED AT BIG MEETING OF O. R. C. SUNDAY

Ceremonies Conducted by Famous Woodlawn Division Degree Team

BANQUET AND SPEECHES FOLLOW RITUALISTIC WORK

Mayor Bentley and R. G. Knutson Among Speakers

AT PIONEER HALL Sunday afternoon La Crosse Division No. 61 of the Order of Railway Conductors initiated fifty new members.

The initiation ceremonies were exemplified by the famous Woodlawn division degree team of Chicago, composed of Illinois Central passenger conductors. This is the only team of its kind in the United States, and the masterly manner in which they demonstrated the impressive ritual of the order was such that it will ever remain fresh in the memories of both the candidates and the members of the order who were fortunate enough to witness it.

After the initiatory ceremony was complete the members and their wives together with many visiting brothers and their wives adjourned to the banquet hall where a dinner was served, after which Toastmaster A. Z. Wright introduced Mayor Bentley, who, in an eloquent address, welcomed the conductors to the city of La Crosse.

Mayor Bentley's remarks were very appropriate and were loudly applauded by those present.

Two Local Speakers

"Organized labor of La Crosse stood for collective bargaining and fought the open shop in this city at great self-sacrifice, "said Mayor Bentley.

"The open shop movement, that is being fostered by hundreds of employers' organizations throughout the country is wrong because it is trying to destroy the benefit of organized labor's intelligent leadership. Organized labor has brought forth many able men, men who are fully capable of representing the working man in congress and everywhere, in fact, where brains and leadership are essential. The open shop movement would destroy all this trained leadership."

R. G. Knutson, organizer of the Trades and Labor council, paid tribute to the untiring efforts of W. B. Burgess, deputy president of the O. R. C. who for weeks has been working in this city and vicinity, getting candidates for the order. Mr. Knutson also spoke of his first real acquaintance with railroad men which was made during the last campaign when he joined hands with railroad leaders in their fight on Congressman John Esch, because of his sponsorship of the Esch-Cummins railroad bill, which Mr. Knutson called one of the most despicable pieces of railroad legislation ever passed by Congress.

The next speaker was President Sheppard of the Order of Railway Conductors. Mr. Sheppard is a very forceful speaker and his message to the members of the organization he represents was powerful and appealing.

Mr. Sheppard among other things admonished the conductors to remember their duty to society, he pleaded with them to be zealous in the performance of their duty to their employer, and to so conduct their lives that they will be a credit to the community in which they live and the organization with which they are affiliated.

There were several other speakers on the program, which included officials from the C. M. and St. P., and C. B. and Q. railways, general chairmen from the C. and N. W., C. B. and Q., and C. M. and St. P. railways and others.

Summed up in a few words it was a very successful event and the visiting conductors and their wives departed from La Crosse with the feeling that nothing was left undone to make their visit one of the pleasing events of their lives.

La Crosse Division No. 61, now boasts of a membership of 160, and at the rate that new members are being initiated will soon reach the 200 mark.

JURIST'S ACCEPTANCE OF POST OF BASEBALL CHIEF BASIS OF WELTY CHARGES

Case is Referred to Judiciary Committee for Investigation; South Carolina Senator to File Charges in Connection with Freeing of Bank Embezzler

WASHINGTON.—Federal Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis of Chicago, was impeached in the house of representatives Monday by Representative Welty, democrat, Ohio, who charged him with "high crimes and misdemeanors" in connection with his acceptance of the position of supreme arbiter of baseball at a salary of $42,500 a year.

Should the house decide to institute proceedings against Judge Landis on the basis of Mr. Welty's charges, a formal trial before the bar of the senate would be held and a decision rendered. Mr. Welty did not introduce a resolution proposing impeachment as is the usual procedure in such matters. Instead he arose to "a question of high personal privilege" and announced that he "impeached" the judge.

JUDGE LANDIS

Without debate the Welty charges, on Mr. Welty's motion, were referred to the judiciary committee for investigation and report. There were a few scattering noes.

Impeachment was proposed by Mr. Welty on the basis of five specific charges as follows:

The Welty Charges

"First—For neglecting his official duties for another gainful occupation not connected therewith.

"Second—For using his office as district judge of the United States to settle disputes which might come into his court as provided by the laws of the United States.

"Third—For lobbying before the legislatures of the several states of the union to procure the passage of state laws to prevent gambling in baseball, instead of discharging his duties as district judge of the United States.

"Fourth—For accepting the position as chief arbiter of the disputes in baseball associations at a salary of $42,500 per annum while attempting to discharge the duties as a district judge of the United States which tends to nullify the effect of the judgment of the supreme court of the District of Columbia and the baseball gambling indictments pending in the criminal courts of Cook county, Illinois.

"Fifth—For injuring the national sport of baseball by permitting the use of his office as district judge of the United States because the impression will prevail that gambling and other illegal acts in baseball will not be punished in the open forum as other cases."

Violated Anti-Trust Law

In presenting his case, Representative Welty said the District of Columbia supreme court had entered a judgment of $240,000 against the American and National leagues and the individual sixteen clubs composing these organizations "for having violated the Sherman anti-trust law." He also said a grand jury at Chicago had indicted ten baseball players on charges of "throwing" the 1919 world series, and added:

"After the baseball associations were found guilty under our laws of being a trust and while the fine of $240,000 was still pending against them they rushed into Judge Landis' court and for an additional salary of $42,500 he became chief arbitrator of a trust which was declared illegal and at their request remained on the federal bench.

"This case is now pending in the supreme court of the United States. What will hinder each member of this court from accepting a like sum from these baseball associations? If Judge Landis can lawfully accept this additional fee, then every other federal judge can enter the employ of those who violate the laws of the land. The question for congress to settle is, can a federal judge accept a subsidy to perform judicial duties?

"Judge Landis has done a great deal of good but if he wants to retain the confidence and respect as a judge he must divorce himself from the flesh-pots of illegal combinations.

Keep Baseball Clean

"I want to keep the baseball sport clean so the people will continue to

U. S. Population Center Moving Toward The West

WASHINGTON—The center of population as disclosed by the 1920 census is located in the extreme southeast corner of Owen county, Indiana, 8.3 miles southeast of the town of Spencer the census bureau announced Monday.

During the last decade the center of population continued to move westward, advancing 9.8 miles in that direction and about one-fifth of a mile north from Bloomington, Ind., where it was located by the census of 1910.

The bureau attributed the westward movement in the last decade "principally to the increase of more than 1,000,000 in the population of the state of California."

DOG OUTLAW KILLED IN RAID ON COYOTES

MITCHELL, S. D. —Shep, a giant shepherd dog, which for two years had been an outlaw, was killed in a coyote round-up here Saturday. For years the dog was considered one of the best in the state in sheep herding. During an "outlaw" period of two years the dog is blamed for the loss of more sheep and cattle than any number killed by wolves.

During the roundup one coyote and the dog were killed. The coyote's hide sold for $5.50 and the dog's for $1.25.

MASS MEETING TUESDAY OPENS UNITED CATHOLIC CAMPAIGN FOR BIG FUND

A MASS meeting in Pioneer hall Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock, will formally open the United Catholic campaign for the $5,000,000 fund to be raised in Wisconsin, to aid the educational and charitable institutions of the Catholic church in the state.

A motion picture, called "Charity at Home," made especially for the local campaign will be shown. The picture shows just what the charities of the church do for children and unfortunates.

A. H. Schubert will preside at the meeting. Among the speakers will be Monsignor A. P. Kreiner, vicar general, who will speak for Bishop Schwebach who is prevented by illness from attending the meeting, Thomas Fleming of Milwaukee, noted orator and a leading democrat, the man who nominated Bryan for the presidency at the Baltimore convention, and W. L. Bessiter, La Crosse chairman.

U. S. OFFICIALS START PROBE OF MAIL PLANE ACCIDENT IN LA CROSSE

CHICAGO.—Investigation into the tragic deaths of three air mail fliers, who were burned to death when their all-metal plane crashed at La Crosse, Wis., February 9, was started here Monday. The investigating board is composed of Col. J. A. Jordan, superintendent of construction of mail service, Washington, D. C.; Lieut. R. C. Page, a test pilot, of Washington, and Major W. C. Chord, an airplane officer attached to Fort Sheridan.

All officers and employes of the air mail service who are familiar with machines of all-metal construction, will be called to give expert testimony. Flyers have been quoted as saying that these planes have been subject to several accidents, including fires.

CANDIDATES OUT FOR CITY OFFICES ELECTION IS NEAR

Arthur J. Roberge Running for City Treasurer—Incumbents Again Candidates

Arthur J. Roberge, former member of the board of public works and police department, has announced his candidacy for nomination and election to the office of city treasurer, at the spring election.

J. George Schweizer, present incumbent of the office, will be a candidate to succeed himself.

Other city officers who will be candidates for re-election are Mayor A. A. Bentley, City Clerk M. R. Birnbaum, Tax Commissioner J. J. Frisch, Police Justice C. W. Hunt and Comptroller W. J. Fries.

BROOKLYN NATIONAL LEAGUE CHAMPIONS ASSEMBLE MARCH 7

NEW YORK.—The Brooklyn National league champions will assemble at New Orleans March 7 for their spring training with a squad of 21 players, it was announced today. The squad will consist of thirteen pitchers, four catchers, eight infielders and six outfielders. The veteran battery will report about two weeks earlier at Hot Springs.

AGED PLUTOCRAT FROM EAST WEDS MADISON WOMAN 65 YEARS OLD

WORCESTER, Mass.—William H. Sawyer, 78, Worcester's largest individual taxpayer and one of the most widely known business men in Worcester, and Miss Marie Louise Everett, 65 years, formerly of Boston, will be married Wednesday noon in Madison, Wisconsin, where the bride is now living.

ROME.—The vatican officially announced promotion to the cardinalate of Archbishop D. J. Dougherty of Philadelphia.

PROPOSED LEGISLATION

MADISON, Wis.—A proposal of Senator Czerwinski to make life easier for firemen in cities of the first class by giving them 24 hours' liberty in each 48, along with a 15-day vacation each year, will be heard by the senate state affairs committee Thursday.

His bill would divide the Milwaukee fire department into platoons, one platoon to go on duty at 8 in the morning and remain for 24 hours, while the other platoon is off duty. It is also stipulated in the measure that no member of the Milwaukee fire department could be reduced in rank by the chief of the department, except by trial.

Beers and light wines will receive an airing at the Wednesday meeting of the assembly state affairs committee, when it considers the Pierson resolution memorializing congress to permit manufacture and sale of the milder intoxicating beverages.

Following the vote of the committee indefinitely to postpone the Matheson prohibition bill amending the Mulberger law to permit more rigid enforcement, there is a likelihood that the Pierson resolution will be recommended for passage, provided all members of the committee are not in attendance. Wet sentiment in the lower house is behind the move.

Assemblyman Erick H. Johnson of Washburn county has a bill which would have the state pay members of party conventions $5 a day for attendance, with a limit of three days' compensation attached. His proposal is intended to provide delegates with an independent means of support and would require that they file an affidavit with the secretary of state that no person, firm, corporation or political organization had paid or agreed to pay any of their convention expenses. The elections committee will consider the bill Wednesday.

Cities would be compelled to furnish free text books to pupils in all graded schools of the state below high school, under terms of a bill introduced by E. H. Johnson of Washburn county which is to be considered by the committee on education Wednesday.

The bill permits the municipalities to levy a tax based on estimate of the school clerk, sufficient to provide for the purchase of text books.

A bill of Assemblyman French of Superior, providing for public operation of automobile service between cities and suburbs which are not connected with street railways, goes to the committee on municipalities for consideration Wednesday.

The state railroad commission would first be required to determine whether or not it would be advisable to extend the street car service into the suburbs, and if not, the city could establish the automobile service.

The Peterson firearm bill, a drastic measure aimed at indiscriminate ownership and carrying of dangerous weapons, is up for consideration by the assembly committee on public welfare Tuesday afternoon. His proposal would make it unlawful for any person to own a firearm without first securing a license which would have to be renewed yearly at a cost of $1.

STOCK COMPANY IN "THE BRAT" TONIGHT

The Beach-Jones Stock company opens their six day engagement at the La Crosse theater tonight. The opening play will be Nazimova's success "The Brat." Eloda Sitzer more familiarly known to her host of friends as "The Little Redhead" has earned for herself a string of enthusiastic press reports in every city visited on account of her portrayal of such characters as the little homeless waif in the "The Brat." She is full of pep and has an irresistible something in her makeup that gets to you and stays with you from start to finish. They will give a new play each night and different plays upon Wednesday and Saturday afternoons.

MOTORMAN HELD

NEW YORK.—Edward Costello, motorman on a Long Island local train that collided Sunday night with an express train in Brooklyn, injuring more than sixty persons, fifteen seriously, was held today charged with felonious assault.

The local train, investigators said, passed several danger signals.

Jellyfish are active swimmers and carry myriads of stinging cells.

SENATOR HAS PLAN FOR REFORESTATION OF BADGER LANDS

MADISON, Wis.—Reforestation of Wisconsin lands would be made possible should a joint resolution providing for a constitutional amendment, introduced by Senator Titus, of Fond du Lac, be passed. It will considered by the legislature soon.

The Wisconsin supreme court has held that the state cannot constitutionally plant trees, holding that it would be in violation of the provision against internal improvement. The resolution of Senator Titus would give the state authority to "appropriate money for the purpose of acquiring, preserving, and developing the forests of the state."

He already has a bill introduced which will permit the state to establish fire protection and in that way preserve the timber now standing on state lands. His proposed constitutional amendment would not further alter the section that declares against appropriation of state money for internal improvement.

CARNIVAL PICTURES AT THE MAJESTIC

Heeding the request of their many patrons the Majestic will again present the La Crosse Winter Carnival and parade movies as an added feature of their double program.

The vaudeville numbers for today, Tuesday and Wednesday, are Kind and Rose an entertaining pair who present a routine of comedy and harmony singing and clever piano playing.

Welch and Hazleton two clever chaps who present a splendid routine of comedy talking and singing.

The feature photoplay for the above program is Mildred Harris Chaplin in "Old Dad," and Fox News.

STUTTGART.—Dr. Simons, German foreign minister, in an address said that on closer scrutiny, the Paris proposals are unacceptable.

THREE BADGERS ARE RECOMMENDED FOR WEST POINT PLACE

MADISON, Wis.—Governor John J. Blaine has recommended three Wisconsin men to the secretary of war for appointment to the West Point Military academy. In naming the appointments, the governor announced that there would probably be further vacancies for which he was willing to receive applications.

The three men recommended are: Edwin H. Hickey, of Madison, private in the 5th separate Wisconsin national guard company; Chester J. Dambert, of Milwaukee, corporal in the 5th Wisconsin national guard company; and Robert F. Holmes, of Baraboo, private in the 40th Wisconsin national guard company.

CRUDE OIL DOWN AGAIN

PITTSBURGH, Pa.—Purchasing agencies here Monday announced further reductions in the price of crude oil. The grade known as Corning was cut forty-five cents a barrel to $2.54, while Cabell was cut fifty cents a barrel to $2.46.

WASHINGTON.—The department of agriculture announced cattle on farms are now worth less than pre-war prices.

How the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) Fulfills Its Social Obligations

THERE are people in the world—though we believe that they are greatly in the minority—who still consider that smallness is a merit, that greatness is a shame, that mediocrity is commendable, and that commercial success is a crime.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) believes that without great commercial enterprises a nation is a dead nation; that great commercial enterprises must be efficient in service to be successful, and that this efficiency means more to the nation than the success means to the organizers of the enterprise.

The Standard Oil Company believes that a great commercial enterprise, to be successful under existing conditions, must contribute to: (1) Greater efficiency in the production of wealth; (2) Greater justice in the distribution of wealth; (3) Greater wisdom in the consumption of wealth.

(1) Greater efficiency in production: Among other notable improvements in the refining of petroleum, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has contributed the Burton process. This process greatly increases the percentage of gasoline derivable from crude oil.

(2) Greater justice in the distribution of wealth: The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) cites the organization of its Company, its liberal policy toward employes—including its annuity system benefitting retired workers; its fairness to competitors—in maintaining open prices and never deviating from them; to customers—by bringing necessary petroleum products to them with the utmost economy.

(3) Greater wisdom in consumption of wealth: The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) not only recognizes its obligation to conserve petroleum and petroleum products to the end that no waste occur, but it maintains a staff of experts, ever at the service of its patrons, to instruct them in the efficient and economical use of the products manufactured by the Company.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is committed to a policy of creative leadership, and because of its loyalty to the ideals outlined above, it is today of signal service to hundreds of thousands of people in ten very important Middle Western States.

Complexions—Night and Noon

Almost any woman can look pretty at night, but only perfect, natural skins can face the glare of noon.

A radiant skin, healthy and glowing, is the very foundation of charm—and every woman can have one. Aids to beauty are many, but the essential is a thoroughly clean skin.

Good complexions call for soap

Beautifying cleanliness requires not only a clean surface, but also soap-cleansed pores. Such cleanliness calls for soap.

Dirt, oil and perspiration clog the skin. So does powder—so does rouge. At least once daily this accumulation should be removed. The best time is at night. Then for hours of sleep the skin has a chance to breathe.

Without such cleansing, glands and pores become enlarged and irritated. Their functions are retarded. Skins become coarse. Blackheads and blotches may follow.

Must be done with lather

This cleansing must be done with soap. There is no substitute. One must force lather into the pores, using a gentle massage. When that is rinsed out, the dirt and oil come with it.

A balmy lather needed

The study has been to produce a balmy, creamy lather. A lather that soothes while it cleanses. A lather which leaves the skin soft.

To do that, modern science has gone back to methods of 3,000 years ago. It employs a blend of palm and olive oils. Not as Cleopatra used them, but prepared in modern ways.

In Palmolive soap these matchless oils are perfectly combined. As a facial cleanser, the world has never found anything better. And it probably never will.

Palmolive cleans the skin with a gentle and soothing emollient. It leaves the skin in blooming, fresh condition. Its daily use is the foundation of skin beauty. Its every application penetrates the skin with the most beneficial oils of the ages.

If the skin is very dry, apply cold cream before and after washing. The soap will make a balmy lather. Rub it gently into the pores. Rinse out with warm water, then apply a dash of cold water as a tonic.

Then you have done the utmost, beyond good food, fresh air and exercise, to beautify the skin.

Why only 10 cents

We bring palm oil from Africa, olive oil from Spain. They are the costliest and the best oils a facial soap can employ. Yet Palmolive sells for 10 cents. The reason lies in enormous production. Millions use Palmolive. And our effort for many years has been to place it within everybody's reach.

Supreme for 3,000 years

Egyptian beauties used palm and olive oils. Roman beauties used them in their famous baths. As skin cosmetics, palm and olive oils have for ages stood supreme. But in olden times only the favored few could get them. And none could get them in this ideal form.

Volume and efficiency enable us to sell Palmolive for

ESTABLISH WORK

LET the beauty of the Lord our God be upon us; and establish thou the work of our hands upon us; yea, the work of our hands establish thou it.—Psalms 110: 17.

Abe Lincoln's Motto

A CENTURY ago, a boy, who was to be crowned with immortal fame, lived on a hilly, unfruitful farm in southern Indiana. A few days ago the governor, in reply to appeals from all over the country, decided that a Lincoln Home Trail shall be constructed through that farm.

This highway will bring countless thousands of pilgrims to the spot where the boy Lincoln laid the foundation for his immortal career. It will give them Lincoln thoughts; it will cause them to ask:

"What lessons did Lincoln learn here, that he could rise head and shoulders above his fellows?"

"I did not go to school more than six months in my life," Abraham Lincoln said years afterward.

But he learned the greatest lessons life can teach! For he studied nature, books, man. He studied life itself.

"Do it better than any one you know does it!"

That was one of Abe Lincoln's boyhood commands to himself. He became the best wrestler, the fastest runner, the hardest worker in and around Gentryville. He was a perfect speller, so they always ruled him out of spelling matches. He was the best read man in three counties, the best penman, the best debater.

Ida Tarbell says of Lincoln, "He could strike with a maul heavier blows" and "sink an ax deeper into the wood" than anybody else in the community.

How? Why?

"Do it better than anybody else you know!"

Abe Lincoln carried this same idea into his home life; he was a better son to his step-mother than her own son was. That is no common thing. But his step-mother's word proves it:

"Abe never gave me a cross word or look. He never refused, in fact or appearance, to do anything I requested him. . . . I had a son, John, who was raised with Abe. Both were good boys; but I must say, both now being dead, that Abe was the best boy I ever saw, or expect to see."

Lessons Lincoln learned can be learned by any of us living today by studying what he studied—nature, books, man—and life itself.

To "do it better than any one else you know" demands effort as earnest and thorough as Lincoln gave back in the days when he lived on the Lincoln Home Trail.

Getting Busy

REPORTING what is probably the most important nation-wide survey of business conditions undertaken during the year, The Literary Digest gives the country a view of the situation which, to men in the mullygrubs, must seem almost buoyant.

A surprising feature of the report is the discovery that in very considerable portions of the United States conditions are normal, while in others "fair to middling" is the average. "No slump here," "normal or better," "better than normal," "running full time," "best in years," are some of the statements reported by the Digest.

And while in sections hit hardest, probably because of dependence upon some single industry, there is blue funk enough, the Digest finds that in these most depressed localities the overwhelming majority expect "recovery to begin any time now, from March to June," while reports are filled with such comment as, "thousands re-employed," "conditions improving," "on the mend," "picking up."

The poll covers every quarter of the land, draws upon thousands of editors and business men for its information. Among the big men who are quoted the tone of replies averages fully as optimistic as is the nation's editorial opinion.

Underwood, of the Erie, expects active resumption about April 1. Pearson, of the New Haven, expects gradual improvement from now on. Byram, of the C. M. & St. P., looks for improvement within three months. The Baldwin locomotive works, a good barometer, reports active business inquiries and expects things to get better until the inauguration, and rapidly thereafter. Gary, United States Steel, is running half capacity, and looks for "decided improvement within four months." The clothing manufacturers' association tells of steady gains in business.

The sum and substance of this report is that the country touched bottom several weeks ago, that in every line business is picking up gradually from this rock-bottom, and that men and institutions that are the best business barometers are almost unanimously agreed that recovery will be more and more rapid from now on, taking an actual spurt immediately after the inauguration of the new president. As Patterson, of the National Cash Register, puts it, ours is a land overflowing with supplies which the world badly needs, with ships to carry them, and that depression "can't last long" is "like saying that one and one make two".

In other words, we are coming out past the actual obstacles to prosperous activity. We still have the psychological obstacles to overcome. It is a state of mind. The moment this nation thinks it is all right, it will be all right. If we get out of "the winter of our discontent," and go happily about our business in the normal way, the whole country will be normal, for we, the people, are the country. Mine, forest and soil have not been depressed; it was we, the people, who were in the dumps. It is good to know that we are awakening to a dawn of promise and come again among our fellows radiant with "shining morning face".

The World Trembles

"THE world is reeling under the most deadly blow in history," says Lloyd George. The British premier has faced the facts. He wants to know when security will come.

There may have been some connection between this assertion and that of a member of the British foreign office who warns his country of a "drift" toward war with America, a conservative line in which was that "Anglo-American relations are more strained than appears on the surface." English papers comment with misgiving. "Oil, naval rivalry, cables and the British-Japanese alliance," are mentioned as causes, but the London dispatch adds that Great Britain "can not understand the attitude of the United States in refusing to cancel war indebtedness."

Albeit many high students of world finance insist that cancellation of these debts must precede restoration of sound conditions, whether we do or do not may be in some sense our own business. Indeed, it may be less of our business than is the Irish question, a question which is part of the "blow" under which "the world reels."

But what with oil and debts, and more swords than plowshares in a hundred bristling quarters of the globe, the world is unstable, irritable, and in a mood for more foolishness. We shall be lucky if our greatest safeguard, a pitiable one, prevents trouble. In the language of fisticuffs known to our fathers' alley, our only safety, if we have any, lies in the fact that "one's afraid and the other dassen't."

In Ye Olden Times

TEN YEARS AGO TODAY

Commodore John C. Toeller of the La Crosse Motorboat club is securing estimates from the builders of racing boats for the craft the local club may enter in the Dubuque M. V. P. B. A. regatta in July. It is considered certain that at least $3,000 will be required to build a racing boat that will go to Dubuque representing La Crosse and clean up the honors for this city. La Crosse business and professional men propose to organize a stock company to have a boat built and auction it off after the race thus returning to the investors, their original money and very likely a profit besides.

The annual meeting of the board of trade was held at Masonic Temple last evening. William Doerflinger was re-elected president and C. S. Hebberd vice-president.

At a meeting of the kindergarten teachers of the city last evening at the normal school an organization was perfected to be known as the La Crosse Kindergarten Union. Miss Hitchcock was elected president and Miss Nettie Sabelwitz was chosen secretary and treasurer.

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

A bill will be introduced in the legislature this week providing for the cutting off of fees from health officers for the registration of births, deaths and marriages in cities of the first and second classes. If the measure becomes a law Health Officer Murphy will lose about $200 a year from his income. The bill will provide for a state statistician to compile the vital statistics.

The J. W. Sones family left this morning for Portland, Oregon, to make their future home.

F. Geisenheimer and E. N. Calkins, publishers of the Argus on the north side, have dissolved partnership. Mr. Calkins will assume full control of the paper while Mr. Geisenheimer will do job work.

THIRTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Manager James Cavanaugh of the North American Telegraph office is in the city and reports that his company will shortly open an office in New Orleans.

The La Crosse Cracker and Candy company is expecting a carload of peanuts from the south today. A carload consists of three hundred bags of nuts, enough to supply western Wisconsin for some time.

A number of men from the south are in the city today to make contracts for ice. The ice south of here is not very good and dealers are forced to come north again as they did last winter.

Three La Crosse horses have been entered in the races to take place at Independence, Iowa, during the summer. Mr. Alex McWilliams' Minneapolis pacer has been entered in a 2:30 pacing race. Messrs. Smith and Bussel and Frank Atkinson also have entries.

A Man For the Ages

BY

Irving Bacheller

"In a few minutes from the time I wet my hook a mess of trout would be dressed and sizzling, with a piece of salt pork, in the pan, or it was a bad day for fishing," he writes.

After supper the wagon was partly unloaded, the feather bed laid upon the planks under the wagon roof and spread with blankets. Then Samson sang songs and told stories or played upon the violin to amuse the family. The violin invariably woke the birds in the tree-tops, and some, probably thrushes or warblers or white throated sparrows, began twittering. Now and then one would express his view of the disturbance with a little phrase of song. Often the player paused to hear these musical whispers "up in the gallery," as he was wont to call it.

Often if the others were weary and depressed he would dance merrily around the fire, playing a lively tune, with Sambo glad to lend a helping foot and much noise to the program. If mosquitos and flies were troublesome Samson built smudges, filling their camp with the smoky incense of dead leaves, in which often the flavor of pine and balsam was mingled. By and by the violin was put away, and all knelt by the fire while Sarah prayed aloud for protection through the night. So it will be seen that they carried with them their own little theater, church and hotel.

Soon after darkness fell, Sarah and the children lay down for the night, while Samson stretched out with his blankets by the fire in good weather, the loaded musket and the dog Sambo lying beside him. Often the howling of wolves in the distant forest kept them awake, and the dog muttering and barking for hours.

Samson woke the camp at daylight and a merry song was his reveille while he led the horses to their drink.

"Have a good night?" Sarah would ask.

"Perfect!" he was wont to answer. "But when the smudges went out the mosquiters got to peckin' my face."

"Mine feels like a pincushion," Sarah would often answer. "Will you heat up a little water for us to wash with?"

"You better believe I will. Two more hedge hogs last night, but Sambo let 'em alone."

Sambo had got his mouth sored by hedge hogs some time before and had learned better than to have any fuss with them. When they set out in the morning Samson was wont to say to the little lad, who generally sat beside him: "Well, my boy, what's the good word this morning?" Whereupon Joe would say, parrot like:

"God help us all and make His face to shine upon us."

"Well said!" his father would answer, and so the day's journey began.

Often, near its end, they came to some lonely farmhouse. Always Samson would stop and go to the door to ask about the roads, followed by Joe and Betsy with secret hopes. One of these hopes was related to cookies and maple sugar and buttered bread and had been cherished since an hour of good fortune early in the trip and encouraged by sundry good-hearted women along the road. Another was the hope of seeing a baby—mainly, it should be said, the hope of Betsy. Joe's interest was merely an echo of hers. He regarded babies with an open mind, as it were, for the opinions of his sister still had some weight with him, she being a year and a half older than he, but babies invariably disappointed him, their capabilities being so restricted. To be sure, they could make quite a noise, and the painter was said to imitate it, but since Joe had learned that they couldn't bite he had begun to lose respect for them. Still, not knowing what might happen, he always took a look at every baby.

The children were lifted out of the wagon to stretch their legs at sloughs and houses. They were sure to be close behind the legs of their father when he stood at a stranger's door. Then, the night being near, they were always invited to put their horses in the barn and tarry until next morning. This was due in part to the kindly look and voice of Samson, but mostly to the wistful faces of the little children—a fact unsuspected by their parents. What motherly heart could resist the silent appeal of children's faces or fail to understand it? Those were memorable nights for Sarah and Joe and Betsy. In a letter to her brother the woman said:

"You don't know how good it seemed to see a woman and talk to her, and we talked and talked until midnight, after all the rest were asleep. She let me hold the baby in my lap until it was put to bed. How good it felt to have a little warm body in my arms again and feel it breathing! In all my life I never saw a prettier baby. It felt so good to be in a real house and sleep in a soft, warm bed and to eat jelly and cookies and fresh meat and potatoes and bread and butter. Samson played for them and kept them laughing with his stories until bedtime. They wouldn't take a cent and gave us a dozen eggs in a basket and a piece of venison when we went away. Their name is Sanford and I have promised to write to them. They are good Christian folks and they say that maybe they will join us in the land of plenty if we find it all we expect."

They had two rainy, cold days, with a northeast wind blowing and deep mud in the roads. The children complained of the cold. After a few miles' travel they stopped at an old hunter's camp facing a great mossy rock near the road.

"Guess we'll stop here for a visit," said Samson.

"Who we goin' to visit?" Joe asked.

"The trees and the fairies," said his father. "Don't ye hear 'em askin' us to stop? They say the wind is blowin' bad an' that we'd better stop an' make some good weather. They offer us a house and a roof to cover it and some wood to burn. I guess we'll be able to make our own sunshine in a few minutes."

Samson peeled some bark and repaired the roof and, with his flint and tinder and some fat pine, built a roaring fire against the rock and soon had his family sitting, in its warm glow, under shelter. Near by was another rude framework of poles set in crotches, partly covered with bark which, with a little repairing, made a sufficient shelter for Pete and Colonel. Down by a little brook a few rods away he cut some balsams and returned presently with his arms full of the fragrant boughs. These he dried in the heat of the fire and spread in a thick mat on the ground under the lean-to. It was now warm with heat, reflected from the side of the great rock it faced. The light of the leaping flames fell upon the travelers.

"Ye see ye can make yer own weather and fill it with sunshine if ye only know how," said Samson, as he sat down and brushed a coal out of the ashes and swiftly picked it up with his fingers and put it into the bowl of his clay pipe. "Mother and I read in a book that the wood was full o' sunlight all stored up and ready for us to use. Ye just set it afire and out comes the warm sunlight for days like this. God takes pretty good care of us—don't He?"

The heat of other fires had eaten a few inches of the base of the rock. Under its overhang some one had written with a black coal the words "Bear Valley Camp." On this suggestion the children called for a bear story, and lying back on the green mat of boughs, Samson told them of the great bear of Camel's Hump which his father had slain, and many other tales of the wilderness.

They lived two days in this fragrant, delightful shelter until the storm had passed and the last of their corn meal had been fed to the horses. They were never to forget the comfort and the grateful odors of their camp in Bear Valley.

On a warm, bright day in the sand country after the storm they came to a crude, half finished frame house at the edge of a wide clearing. The sand lay in drifts on one side of the road. It had evidently moved in the last wind. A sickly vegeration covered the field. A ragged, barefooted man and three scrawny, ill clad children stood in the dooryard. It was noontime. A mongrel dog, with a bit of the hound in him, came bounding and barking toward the wagon and pitched upon Sambo and quickly got the worst of it. Sambo, after much experience in self-defense, had learned that the best way out of such trouble was to seize a leg and hang on. This he did. The mongrel began to yelp. Samson lifted both dogs by the backs of their necks, broke the hold of Sambo and tossed aside the mongrel, who ran away whining.

"That reminds me of a bull that tackled a man over in Vermont," said he. "The man had a club in his hand. He dodged and grabbed the bull's tail and beat him all over the lot. As the bull roared, the man hollered: 'I'd like to know who began this fuss anyway.'"

The stranger laughed.

"Is that your house?" Samson asked.

The man stepped nearer and answered in a low, confidential tone:

"Say, mister, this is a combination poorhouse and idiot asylum. I am the idiot. These are the poor."

He pointed to the children.

"You don't talk like an idiot," said Samson.

The man look around and leaned over the wheel as if about to impart a secret.

"Say, I'll tell ye," he said in a low tone. 'A real, first-class idiot never does. You ought to see my actions."

"This land is an indication that you're right," Samson laughed.

"It proves it," the stranger whispered.

"Have you any water here?" Samson asked.

BOYHOOD STORIES OF FAMOUS MEN

Hans Christian Andersen

Members of the congregation squirmed and leaned forward so they might see the baby who was to be christened.

The proud parents marched importantly down the aisle. Just as the minister was about to begin the ceremonies the baby let out a terrible bawl. In vain did they try to quiet him.

The preacher, who was a hot-tempered man, said: "The young one screams like a cat!"

Hans Christian Andersen became a famous author. His fairy tales are read by children all over the world.

VALENTINE'S DAY

The custom of exchanging on this day pictorial missives inscribed with poetry, or other phrase, originated long ago in Roman times, when a young man or young lady chose his or her partner by lot. February 14th later corresponded with the feast day of St. Valentine, and so the missives, as well as the senders, were commonly called "valentines."

How About You?

Of 101 newsboys in Wichita, Kansas, present at a recent banquet, 47 had bank accounts.

Improve Their Spelling

At East Technical High School, Cleveland, O., students in the English classes are making an effort to become better spellers. Ten minutes a week is spent on spelling exercises.

Get Jobs for Students

Teachers of the Manual Training High School, Kansas City, Mo., have begun a campaign to secure leads to reliable positions for all the students of the school who wish to go to work after graduating and who intend to locate permanently in Kansas City.

"You're Fined Ten Cents, Miss"

If you were a member of the Forsenic Girls' Club of Topeka, Kansas, High School, you couldn't chew gum, break the furniture, or allow your vanity to show itself without being fined a good sum of money to be put into the Club treasury. That's how the Forsenic Girls' Club keeps its money box in good trim.

Play "Mama" With Real Baby

At Enslow High School, Huntington, W. Va., as the result of efforts of the home economics department, the girl students are now taught how to bathe and dress a real "honest-to-goodness" baby. The care and feeding of babies is a new branch of study at Enslow and is proving quite popular with the girls.

Cleveland's Boast

Cleveland, O., is the only city in the United States where members of a great symphony orchestra teach music in public high schools. The Board of Education, with the assistance of the Musical Arts Association of Cleveland, is putting forth a special effort this year to encourage knowledge and appreciation of good music among high school people.

Glenville High School of Cleveland has a girls' band.

PARTY STUNTS

"What Is It?"

One person goes out of the room. The others decide on something, a person, an object, within the room. The player is called in, and by asking questions which can readily be answered by "yes" or "no" he attempts to find out what object is on the mind of the group.

If he guesses correctly in fifteen attempts he is allowed to choose another player to take his place. But should he fail to name the object in fifteen guesses, he must again leave the room and another article is chosen by the group.

Naturally

"If you put your head in the fire," asked the teacher, "what happens?"

Pupil—"You pull it out."

Instructor—"My boy, do you think you can handle the English language?"

Student—"My knowledge of the English language always has been my greatest asset."

THE FAMILY ALBUM

THE GOOD SAINT VALENTINE

BY WILLIAM E. BARTON

When you are in Rome, and journey out on the Via Flaminia, you will find the cemetery of Saint Valentine, and you will be told that the saint whose body and name are there enshrined was an honored bishop, who was faithful to his trust amid the Claudian persecutions. You will be given a date for his martyrdom, and the year is 270 A. D., and the month and day are February 14.

BARTON

You will hear wondrous tales about this good old man. You will hear that he was cast into prison, and was unterrified; what is more, he was not embittered.

He healed the jailer's daughter of blindness, and this kind act, instead of softening the hearts of his persecutors, made them the more hateful. So they beat him and beheaded him, and supposed that that was the end of the old bishop and of his religion.

They were mistaken. Valentine became a popular character.

But there were other noted men named Valentine, and one of them a priest, met death on the same day and month, though in a different year.

Charles Lamb thus speaks of him, the patron saint of lovers:

"Thou comest attended by thousands and ten thousands of little Loves;
And the air is brushed with the kiss of rustling wings.
Singing cupids are thy choristers and thy perceptors.
And instead of crosier the mystical arrow is borne before thee."

So much for the good saint or saints whose name is given us as belonging to the day. For centuries the day has been celebrated with the giving of love-tokens. Any day is good for that purpose, and once a year is none too often for a day that honors such a custom.

No matter if you have been married a thousand years, or a period that seems as long, you should frequently say, "I love you." Say it in plain words. Say it in a hundred daily acts. And say it occasionally in unusual ways.

For instance, in a valentine.

HUNGARIANS RETURNING FROM U. S. ARE VICTIMS OF ORGANIZED MURDER

BUDAPEST.—A number of Hungarians who have returned recently from the United States have become victims of an organized murder gang here. Disguised as guides, members of this organization lurk near the railway terminals and press their services upon unsuspecting arrivals, who are then led into out-of-the-way places, waylaid and robbed, and sometimes murdered.

A few days ago the body of George Bodnar was taken out of the Danube, where it had evidently been thrown. He arrived here recently from Connecticut with $3,000. Peter Kelen of Columbus, Ohio, who brought $2,000 with him, was kidnapped and later found shot to death in a neighboring forest.

Authorities have posted warnings about the terminals and a close watch is being kept for members of the gang.

MRS. MARY G. BROWN DIES IN NEW YORK; KNOWN TO MANY HERE

Word was received here of the death in New York city Sunday of Mrs. Mary G. Brown, neice of the late Mrs. Angus Cameron of this city and well known to many La Crosse people.

Mrs. Brown was the mother of Mrs. Barbara C. Falge who is well known here. Mrs. Falge is the wife of Lieut. Commander J. H. Falge, U. S. navy.

According to the meager information contained in the telegram, Mrs. Brown will be buried at Pennyan, Pa., Tuesday.

To Find Depth of Ocean

Aerial photography is used now to determine the depth of the ocean. A French scientist has a series of photographs taken from a seaplane; in these the tints of the water vary according to the known depths. By comparing photographs of unsounded depths with them, fairly accurate knowledge can be obtained. The nature of the ocean bed, whether sandy, muddy, or rocky, is revealed in the same way.

The Screen

AT THE THEATERS TODAY

Rivoli—Bebe Daniels in "Oh Lady Lady"; Buster Keaton in "The Scarecrow"; Bert Beyerstedt and Mary Pickford feature in "The Old Fashioned Show."

La Crosse—Beach and Jones Stock company playing, "The Brat."

Bijou—"Out of the Storm"; comedy, "Cutting Out Vacation."

Strand—Olive Thomas in "The Flapper"; comedy, "Walter's Wasted Life."

Riviera—Pearl White in "The Tiger's Cub"; "King of the Circus," No. 8.

AT THE STRAND

"Ginger" is the unsophisticated daughter of a rich senator, portrayed by Olive Thomas in her latest Selznick picture, "The Flapper," which is to be shown at the Strand theater tonight.

Arriving at an exclusive boarding school at the age of sixteen, she assumes the attitude of a very worldly wise young woman, and acts the part so well that all her classmates are fooled. Her masquerade throws her in with a pair of clever crooks, makes the folks back in her home town think she is a very wicked woman, and almost ruins her life's happiness. But at the last moment she doffs the shaw, admits to the fact that she was but "flapping" herself into a false reputation, and again takes up her pursuit of young, innocent friends, ice cream sodas and untarnished happiness.

AT THE BIJOU

"Out of the Storm," adapted from Gertrude Atherton's "The Tower of Ivory," is the latest release of the Goldwyn Eminent Authors productions. She has studied the photoplay industry seriously and the result was her willingness to give her works to the Goldwyn Pictures Corporation for adaption to the motion pictures.

Mrs. Atherton made a long and careful study of the motion picture industry before throwing her hat into the ring.

Mrs. Atherton was a confessed cosmopolite and her stories take you through the most picturesque parts of the United States, through Germany, through France, and give the director an excellent opportunity to make his picture beautiful as well as interesting—and what audience can resist a combination of beauty and interest?

AT THE RIVOLI

"You know I'd like to play this role on the stage."

It was Bebe Daniels talking. The beautiful Realart star had just finished a scene as May Barber in "Oh Lady Lady," which Realart has had scenarized for her from the famous Bolton and Wodehouse musical comedy success. And she voiced a desire to sing instead of act the principle role, to register high C's instead of emotions, in other words.

"I have always wanted to play in straight musical comedy," continued Miss Daniels, "when I was just a child actress on the stage I appeared in one or two such productions, but never in a really big role on account of my age. Since then they tell me I have developed a fairly effective singing voice and a personality especially good for the musical comedy type of fun.

"It would be splendid to play May Barber on the stage. I am having a world of a lot of fun doing it for the screen—but there would be twice as much with an audience out in front to applaud if they liked me.

"As a matter of fact I'd like to transform this whole company of mine into a stage troupe. I doubt if the original producers of 'Oh, Lady, Lady' ever played their roles with a better comedy touch than Walter Hiers and Harrison Ford. Walter, especially, is screamingly funny as my serious-minded old country 'sweetie' who is scared for fear he's about to be 'camped' when I become a chorus lady and appear on the scene just as he's to be married to a very conventional young person.

"We've all had a wonderful time playing the clever scenes of this play. I do hope the public will like it as much as we have."

"Oh Lady Lady" will be presented at the Rivoli theater today. It is the second Bebe Daniels starring vehicle and presents the player in an even more delightful role than that of "You Never Can Tell," her great initial success.

At the Rivoli Monday to Wednesday in "Oh, Lady, Lady."

In "The Old Fashioned Show" Mary Pickford in "The Gateway of Regret" and Bert Beyerstedt singing illustrated songs as well as old time doings will be featured. Buster Keaton in "The Scarecrow" is also on the program.

AT THE RIVIERA

Pearl White, internationally famous Fox star, who will be seen in "Tiger's Cub" at the Riviera theater today, has been honored by members of the 45th Squadron, Royal Air Force, at Quetta, India. They have given the name "The Pearl White" to a Bristol fighting aeroplane which saw service against the Germans over France and Belgium.

"The Pearl White" machine, which is on garrison duty on the northwestern frontier of India, made an enviable record during the world war, having accounted for a considerable number of German Fokkers.

In notifying Miss White of her selection for the honor the squadron, in command of Captain G. E. Turney, R. A. F., has asked the famous Fox star to furnish a photograph which will be artistically copied in paint on the dashboard of the machine. Miss White promptly sent the photograph.

AT THE CASINO

Tom Mix's company, which recently completed filming "The Texan," a William Fox production from the novel of James B. Hendryx, which is to open at the Casino theater today, succeeded in obtaining some excellent material for the picture during the big championship rodeo held at Prescott, Ariz., as part of the "Frontier Days" celebration.

The rodeo scenes are one of the important phases of the picture, for it is well known that nothing in the pastimes of the true sons of the plains is so typical of western atmosphere as the annual rodeo.

The daring exploits of the cowboys during the steer bulldogging events, the broncho "busting" and contests of skill with the lariat, as recorded on the film, will be interesting to persons all over the country—especially to followers of the western type of story.

Mix himself served as one of the judges during the week of festivity and games. Pat Chrisman, a Mix cowpuncher won first prize for the best appearance at the parade, and Ed Hendershott received first money in the star bulldogging contest when he defeated "Wild Bill" Simon, the idol of Yavapi county, by half a second.

Also showing the first episode of that wonderful million dollar serial of the African jungle, "The Lost City," starring Juanita Hansen.

LENTEN THOUGHTS IN SERMON GIVEN AT LOCAL CHURCH

Rev. C. C. Rowlison Talks on "Divinely Chosen" at Congregational Church

"Sometimes we say that our lives are entirely controlled by our environment, said Rev. C. C. Rowlison, at the First Congregational church Sunday. "We are what we are because circumstances have made us what we are. Even religiously we are apt to say, 'There's a Divinity that shapes our ends, rough-hew them as we will.'

"There is today a rising tide of ancient pantheism, against which the Christian spirit must set itself as of old. This pantheism affirms that all our wrongs come from our choices, from our resistence to our environment. We are plunged into the ocean of chance, and we must not struggle toward some refuge; rather we should yield ourselves to the tide and let it bear us where it will. Many of us will be submerged, of course, but what of that? Many always have gone down any way, so why resist? Have the day of enjoyment any way even if the storm arises with the evening and swallows us up in the universal swirl.

"This makes life cheap. This brings anarchy. This is bolshevism and its fruits. This repudiates all heroism. This denies an heroic and spiritual God.

Self Assertion

"It is true that the helpless infant is dependent upon and controlled by its environment. He takes what comes to him, more or less contentedly, it is all that he can do. But as he develops he becomes aware of inward desires that are contrary to the impression of the environment. He asserts himself with at least a degree of success, and so his will is developed until, to a large degree, he controls his environment.

"Becoming a scholar, the youth learns the laws of nature—the laws of his environment. Then he finds that his supposed freedom is really only freedom as he chooses and yields himself to the laws of nature. The laws of the moral and physical universe, whose principles and impulses he knows are always playing about him, always coursing through his veins and along his nerve tracks, must be obeyed absolutely if he is to have the semblance of freedom. By yielding thus he finds himself growing ever more efficient, like an Edison; ever more masterful like an Abraham Lincoln; ever more divine like the Christ.

"Thus the true man acquires that reaction to nature which is a high religion, as it is expressed by great philosophers and scientists such as Aristotle and Huxley; by Darwin and Kant and Bergson and the rest. To such real disciples nature seems to say, "You have not chosen me, but I have chosen you, and ordained you that you should bear much fruit."

Real Joy of Life

"The real thrill and joy and satisfaction of our religion, of our whole life, is experienced when we realize that we have not chosen our own course in life, that indeed we have not chosen God except in a superficial way; but that He has chosen us, and ordained us and so fitted us to bear fruit.

"Education is not only the development of our native powers, but is also the discipline of the mind to apprehend the laws of life in such a way that one is mastered and controlled by them; and thus one becomes free in his native home. He has an adjusted life, as well as a controlled life.

"Religious education is not merely the learning of a lot of Biblical and other facts about religion, nor is it simply the bringing of one to an intelligent recognition and acceptance of spiritual truths. 'The devils believe and tremble' but they continue to be devils. In its essential meaning religious education is the bringing of the soul of man to the apprehension of the fact, of a divine Father and a loving Master who own him and have chosen him for a divine destiny."

CANADIAN NATIONAL RAILWAY EMPLOYES FORBIDDEN POLITICS

TORONTO, Ont.—Employes of the Canadian National railways, the government system will not be permitted to continue in the service and accept nominations from any political party, either federal or provincial, according to a ruling made public Monday.

Simple Logic

The earl of Portarlington, who was one of the first to volunteer for service during the railway strike in England, relates the following story: A boy scout on duty at one of the London termini, feeling the pangs of hunger about eleven o'clock one morning, began a vigorous attack on a substantial lunch he had brought with him. A gentleman passing by was moved to remark: "My boy, if you eat much now you won't have any appetite for your dinner." To which the smart little fellow replied: "Well I guess if I haven't any appetite I shan't want any dinner." The gentleman had no more to say.— River Falls Journal.

LEGISLATORS PLAN HIGHWAY RULES FOR BIG MOTOR TRUCKS

Truck Traffic Ruining Roads is Claim in Southern Part of the State

BY FRED L. HOLMES

MADISON, Wis.—One of the subjects that will be threshed out in the legislature at an early date is the regulation of the use of big motor trucks on the highways. The question is being agitated in many parts of the state, especially in the eastern and southeastern parts, where it is alleged that many of the roads are being ruined by heavy truck traffic. The matter has already been tentatively discussed by the legislative highway committees.

At the annual meeting of county boards last November the boards of Jefferson, Racine, Marathon, Kenosha and Winnebago counties passed resolutions calling upon the legislature to enact measures to prevent these heavy trucks damaging the highways or to increase the license to make good the damage done. On a call issued by the Jefferson county board a meeting was held in Madison during the recent road school and a committee of nine appointed to take up the matter at the annual meeting of the chairmen of the county boards to be held at Madison this week, on Wednesday and Thursday.

The consensus of opinion at this time is that a bill covering this subject in some manner will be passed. Those familiar with the matter seem to believe that it will not be an effort to increase the license fees to pay for damage done, but it will be a measure limiting the load according to the class of road. It is held that no increase license fee would compensate for the damage.

One factor brought out in the discussion is that the number of large trucks is so small a proportion of the total traffic that they should not be permitted to indiscriminately use the roads to the disadvantage of other highway traffic. Most of the 16,000 trucks licensed for county traffic are ton and a half and less. It is stated that less than one per cent of the total motor trucks licensed are two-ton trucks and upward.

The farmers feel especially strong on the matter. They use trucks of small tonnage—usually one-ton vehicles. They call attention to the fact that the few heavy trucks are not serving the farmer but largely carrying inter-city traffic, and that the farmer is paying a large part of the cost of building the roads.

First Jap Woman Journalist

The first Japanese woman to edit a woman's page in her country, Miyo Kohashi, is studying journalism at Columbia university in preparation for teaching journalism in the Tokyo Union college next year. A decade ago women journalists were unheard of and unthought of in Japan. Now many women are growing interested in the profession, but very few of them have had special training for the work. That is why Miss Kohashi is preparing to teach the subject. "Women in Japan are liking the newspaper profession," says Miss Kohashi, "and already in Tokyo we have a club of twenty women journalists." Miss Kohashi is the Japanese representative of an interesting group of women students of 32 nationalities who form the International Foyer of the Y. W. C. JUANITA HANSEN

"THE LOST CITY" is a new thriller in movie serials, the first episode of which will be shown. According to A. J. Cooper, manager, it is one of the most sensational screen stories ever shown in a La Crosse theater. There are fifteen chapters and the action grows faster and faster with each succeeding episode and a charming love story blends itself through each episode. The story starts with an aeroplane trip of a young millionaire to the African jungle. Natives are seen returning to their village with prisoners from another tribe with whom they are at war. Among the prisoners is a young girl, with blackened face but who has the features of a white girl. The excitement starts when the millionaire-aviator-hero tries to escape from the prison camp with the girl. And the excitement grows more intense with each episode.

WAGE REDUCTIONS ARE SUSPENDED BY RAIL LABOR BOARD

Changes Not Effective Till Passed on by Board is Ruling

CHICAGO, Ill.—Recent reductions in wages of maintenance of way men and changes in the working conditions of train dispatchers as announced by the Erie railroad were suspended by the federal labor board Monday. The board announced no reductions in wages or changes in working conditions could become effective except by agreements between the roads and its employes, until the board has an opportunity to pass on the case. The hearing was set for February 23.

The case was presented ten days ago by representatives of the employes. The petition alleged the road had reduced the basic wage of track workers to thirty cents an hour from thirty-seven to forty-eight and one-half cents an hour.

Train dispatchers' representatives charged the road had ordered them to work seven days a week instead of six.

Will be Test Case

DETROIT, Mich.—Belief that the hearing into wage reductions of maintenance of way men announced Monday by the federal railway labor board in Chicago, would serve as a test case for maintenance of way men on all railways, was expressed here by E. F. Grable, president of the United Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employes and Railway Shop Laborers.

Announcement that the St. Louis & San Francisco railway had suspended recently announced wage reductions to maintain men pending the outcome of the hearing into the Erie railway wage case was contained in a telegram received this morning by Mr. Grable from the railway officials, he said.

REVIVAL OF COTTON INDUSTRY REPORTED BY CENSUS BUREAU

WASHINGTON.—Revival of the cotton manufacturing industry, which for some months had been on the decline, is indicated in the January cotton consumption report issued Monday by the census bureau. There was an increase of 71,419 bales in consumption of lint cotton in January as compared with December when consumption reached the lowest point it had been in six years with a total of 294,851 bales. Consumption during the six months ended January 31 was 800,000 bales less than in the same period last year, the total being 2,333,855 bales. Cotton spindles active during January numbered 3,230,558 less than operated during January, 1920, while December showed 4,703,758 less than the previous December.

Lint cotton on hand January 31 totalled 6,918,435 bales of lint in consuming establishments and in public storage and at compresses compared with 5,710,655 bales on that date a year ago.

Obituary

MRS. ANNA LEPSA

"Grandma" Lepsa, as she was familiarly known by her large number of relatives and acquaintances, died Sunday afternoon after an illness of two weeks, the immediate cause of death was the infirmities of old age. She was born in Bohemia, June 12, 1837, and was 83 years of age. With her husband, Mr. John Lepsa, who had preceded her in death 22 years ago, she arrived in America in 1871, and has been a resident of La Crosse ever since. She is survived by four daughters and six sons. They are: Mrs. Anna Smolek, with whom she has been making her home for a number of years; Mrs. Elizabeth Tuma of La Crosse; Mrs. Theresa Lapitz of Winona; Mrs. Mary Sikorski of La Crosse; Mr. Joseph Lepsa of Bangor; Mathias, Wenzel and Jacob Lepsa of La Crosse; Casper Lepsa of Rushford, Minn., and Mr. Thomas Lepsa of Chicago, and fifty grandchildren.

The funeral will be held Wednesday at 8:30 from the residence, 1229 South Thirteenth street, and at 9 o'clock from the St. Wenceslaus church, Rev. Ambrose Kolar officiating. Interment will be made in the Catholic cemetery.

ARGALL JOHNSON

D. E. Rice received word today of the death of his nephew, Argall Johnson, at Wausau, Wis., following an operation for appendicitis. The remains will be brought to La Crosse for interment, and the funeral will be held from Tetley, Sletten & Dahl's mortuary. The time will be announced later.

PETER KNUDSON

Mr. Peter Knudson, 328 South Third street, passed away Monday morning at a local hospital after an illness of several months. He was 57 years of age and is survived by his widow and six children, Lilah, Emma, Alice, Clarence and Viola Knudson, all of this city, and Mrs. Trudell of Milwaukee; also three brothers and one sister.

Funeral services will be held from the Tetley, Sletten & Dahl parlors, at 2:30 Thursday afternoon. Rev. Vik will officiate. Interment will be in Oak Grove cemetery.

CARD OF THANKS

We, the undersigned, wish to thank the many friends and neighbors for their kindness and sympathy shown us during our late bereavement, the death of our beloved husband and father. Especially do we wish to thank Rev. Dixon, the pallbearers and all who sent floral offerings.

support it. But you cannot maintain the sport when you permit the players to throw games and the magnates to throw our judiciary.

"You dare not permit even illegal combinations to tamper with our judiciary by subsidizing them with an additional salary in order to give these combinations a bath so they will again gain the confidence of the public.

"On March 3, 1917, the sixty-fifth congress passed an act which in part provides:

"No government employe or government official shall receive any salary in connection with his services as such official or employe from any source other than the government of the United States."

The Ohio representative then outlined his charges and concluded with this statement:

"Wherefore said Kenesaw M. Landis was and is guilty of misbehavior, as such judge, and of crimes and misdemeanors in office."

No Immediate Action

There is little likelihood of action by the judiciary committee on the Welty charges at this session of congress, Chairman Volstead said.

"The fact that Mr. Welty retires March 4 does not affect the status of the proceedings, nor does the case necessarily end with adjournment of congress," Mr. Volstead said. "No arrangement has been made for a meeting of the committee, but we probably will hear Mr. Welty shortly and if the committee believes there is sufficient ground to go ahead it will be necessary to adopt a resolution providing therefor."

Landis Won't Talk

CHICAGO, Ill.—Judge K. M. Landis is Monday refused to comment on the charges and threatened impeachment proceedings of Senator Dial of South Carolina. He repudiated published statements in morning papers attributed to him, and declared he would have nothing further to say on the matter at this time.

"Well, what's the next move, Judge?" he was asked.

"It's Dial's move. I've nothing more to say. Why, all these reports of alleged interviews make me out a common gossip. Anything I say now would just be handing that fellow wood for his fire."

The judge's office was busy with callers all day today. Some offered sympathy and support, and others came to give the judge assurance of their faith in his stand. To all of them he declared he was not perturbed by any of the Dial threats.

"I'm not worried about this thing," he assured one caller. "Why, I'm no more interested in this than I am in the appointment of a new bell-hop in that hotel across the street."

Dial to File Charges

WASHINGTON. — Representative Welty of Ohio, Monday refused to grant a request of Senator Dial of South Carolina that he include in his proposed impeachment proceedings against Federal Judge Landis the statement attributed to the judge that officials of an Ottawa, Illinois, bank were responsible for an embezzlement by a clerk of the bank because they paid the clerk only $90 a month.

Senator Dial announced Monday he would prefer charges against Federal Judge Landis with the department of justice in connection with the judge's statement in the case of the Ottawa bank clerk, besides seeking to have impeachment proceedings brought against him in the house.

Protest Release of Clerk

OTTAWA, Ill.—There were circumstances connected with the case of Francis J. Carey, 19-year-old receiving teller who confessed peculations totalling $90,000 which were not known to Judge Landis when that jurist released the youth, according to C. B. Chapman of counsel for the National City Bank of Ottawa.

"The boy was advanced rapidly in the bank because of unusual conditions in the working staff of the institution," Mr. Chapman said. "He got $90 a month which was high in view of the size of wages and salaries here generally and in view of living costs and his age and experience.

"Banks as a rule pay less than other commercial institutions, I believe, because there is always a steady demand for places in them and young men are willing to start at small salaries in order to obtain the valuable training and business knowledge which come from connection with banks.

"Speaking personally, I think some of Judge Landis' observations at the trial were unwarranted."

"Pish-Posh" Says Landis

CHICAGO.—In an interview printed in morning papers here Monday, Judge K. M. Landis characterized as "pish-posh" impeachment talk started in Washington by Senator Dial, of South Carolina, and Representative Welty, of Ohio. "Dial and Welty demonstrate that I have a positive genius in the selection of enemies," he added.

"As for Senator Dial, I have succeeded in performing the Herculean task of dragging him from an airtight obscurity. The senator has seen fit to turn the spotlight on me. He attacks me for going slow in imposing a sentence upon a $90 a month clerk handling thousands of dollars daily.

"Now, I'd like to turn the spotlight on the senator. He's a banker.

"Southern Mills Notorious"

"I'll wager it would be cold meat for any body investigating Senator Dial's payroll. The cotton mills of the south are notorious for the way they have underpaid their help. I would like to know what he pays his little girl employes."

The judge reiterated that he was properly quoted in the statement that a board of bank directors that was guilty of creating the condition outlined to him in court in such a case as that of the young bank thief would naturally invite embezzlement.

CONGRESS PROVIDES MONEY TO FINISH THE INDIAN SCHOOL

$8,000 to be Used on Two Additions; High School Bonds are Sold

TOMAH, Wis.—The sum of $8,000 was recently appropriated by Congress for the completion of additions to two of the buildings at the Tomah Government Indian School. Additions were provided for at pre-war prices and could not be completed without special legislation. The enlarged buildings are greatly needed to accomodate the present enrollment, which is the largest in the history of the school.

Indian boys and girls from the Winnebago, Menomonie, Brothertown, Pottowatomie, Sioux, Oneida and Chippewa tribes have come from their reservations, at the expense of Uncle Sam to attend the school from September until June. Then the greater number of the pupils will be returned to their homes until school opens again. The Tomah school is the only non-reservation school in Wisconsin and is vocational.

All bonds for the building of the $98,000 addition to Tomah high school building, have been sold by the school district of this city to the three banks of Tomah. The bonds are in denominations of $500 each and bear 5 percent interest. Business men and farmers of this locality are investing in these bonds, rating them A.

CATCH RING-LEADER OF ALLEGED BAND OF SWELL CON-MEN

CHICAGO, Ill.—One of the ring-leaders of a band of swindlers blamed by police for the disappearance of C. C. Dukes, a banker of Milan, Ga., four months ago, and the loss to their victims of $1,500,000, was identified here today as Neal McDougall, under arrest on suspicion of having defrauded many Chicago women of valuable jewelry. Atlanta police identified him as one of a band of confidence men numbering at times nearly a hundred.

Six others of the band have been arrested in Memphis, according to police, and another is fighting extradition from Alabama.

An elaborately equipped club was maintained by the band, police said, in which victims were entertained while plans were laid to swindle them.

A detective from Atlanta is here to obtain McDougall's extradition and to search for W. P. Woodward, alleged leader of the swindlers.

LOCAL RADIO CLUB WILL MEET WEEKLY STARTING TONIGHT

The La Crosse Radio club which up to now has been meeting every first and third Monday of the month, is trying a new plan, and will hereafter meet every Monday night in the usual place—the Physics Laboratory of the High school.

The club is conducting code practices daily for the benefit of those who are applying for their amateur radio licenses.

At the meetings of the club there is usually a business meeting first, after which the program for the evening is given. Topics of interest to the club are discussed.

As many new members have been admitted there will be an initiation after the meeting Monday night which, because of the large number of new members, promises much fun and enjoyment. Following is the program for Monday, February 14:

Suggestions to the Radio Club—H. Bittner.

Grounds—R. Bartl.

Instruction Course—Mr. Proffsman.

Question Box—John Esch.

Initiation of new members.

SMALL FIRE SUNDAY AT LEWIS RESIDENCE

A fire originating in the floor around the chimney caused slight damage to the residence of W. A. Lewis, 1621 Main street Sunday morning, according to a report of central fire station on Monday.

is one of the foremost railway organizations in the country, and in addition to granting very liberal life insurance also furnishes the members an opportunity to obtain accident insurance at a low premium.

In addition it also provides a relief fund to assist members who through adversity are temporarily unable to continue their work.

It also provides a pension for members who reach the age of 70 years or through mental or physical causes are unable to continue in active service.

The officers and members of division 61 desire through the columns of this paper to thank the Holcomb orchestra for the able manner in which they provided the musical program at the banquet and at the dance with followed.

They also wish to express their thanks to the visiting members from Dubuque, St. Paul, Minneapolis, Green Bay, Chicago, Milwaukee and Portage who helped the event of Sunday, February 13th, to be a complete success.

A man is foolish to borrow trouble when there are so many people anxious to give it away.

TWO AUTOMOBILES IN COLLISION ON JACKSON STREET

Cars of Lewis Smith and Clarence Meyers Wrecked on Eighth Street

That Eighth and Jackson streets, and its vicinity, has become a popular place for automobile accidents is evidenced by the recurrence of a smash-up when the cars of Lewis Smith of the Hoffman-Smith Tire company, and Clarence Meyers, farmer near Barre Mills, came together in a crash Sunday.

No injuries were reported as a result of the smashup.

According to the record of the accident, Smith was driving west on Jackson street, while Meyers was driving south on Eighth street. At the intersection of the streets Meyer's car was alleged to have struck the rear right wheel of the Smith car, bending the fender in addition. Both of the lights and the right fender of Meyer's car were said to have been broken in the clash.

It was said that if the cars approached the crossing at the same time, Meyers would have the right of way, according to the existing traffic regulations.

199 ARRESTED IN A RAID ON CAFE IN MINNEAPOLIS HOTEL

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn.—One hundred and ninety-nine men and women were arrested early Sunday in a raid on the Dutch room, the cafe in the National hotel, this city. Perley McBride, charged with keeping a disorderly house also was locked up. There were 129 men and 69 women arrested and charged with being found in the place. A police auto filled with bottles and glasses taken from the hotel collided with another automobile. The driver of the police car and a patrolman were cut by broken glass. Four prisoners in the car escaped. When the police appeared in the cafe patrons hurled glasses and bottle to the floor. The raid was a complete surprise to the patrons of the cafe. Patrons in rooms in the hotel were not disturbed. The raid was conducted by the police, on evidence gathered by the police operatives and operatives for the Committee of Thirteen.

MRS. E. P. KUEHN DIES AT HOSPITAL IN BILLINGS, MONT.

A telegram from E. P. Kuehn of Hardin, Montana, to his brother A. Kuehn of this city, announces the death of Mrs. Kuehn at a hospital in Billings, Montana.

Mr. E. P. Kuehn and family were former residents of Viroqua, having moved to Montana a few years ago. According to the announcement, the body of Mrs. Kuehn will be brought to Viroqua for burial.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank the many friends and neighbors for the kindness and sympathy extended to us at the death of our beloved wife and mother, Mrs. Gertrude Jenks. Especially do we thank Rev. E. C. Dixon, the singers and all those who sent floral offerings.

ELLIS S. JENKS AND FAMILY.

Uncle Sam M. D.

INFORMATION EDITOR, WASHINGTON, D. C.

"Uncle Sam, M. D.," will answer questions of general interest relating to hygiene, or disease. Address: U. S. Public Health Service, Washington, D. C.

Q. My husband has been suffering from heart trouble the last five years. It's getting worse all the time. When he walks too fast and lifts too heavy he falls over in a faint. His doctor last week said he had an enlarged heart, but could not say what from. He has had X-ray taken of his teeth and has had one tooth pulled out and another will come out next Monday but otherwise his teeth are solid for a man of 40 years.

We talked to a trained nurse, who has a father that is a great doctor, and she says enlarged heart comes from too heavy and thick blood. This nurse claims his heart stops for that second when he faints until the heart can pump that heavy blood. Could you tell me what diet or medicine will thin out his blood?

A. The nurse's explanation was incorrect or else you misunderstood her. Enlargement of the heart comes from some extra work it has had to do. Perhaps, the enlargement was due to a leaking valve, or there might be a roughness on the valve which made some obstruction to the flow of the blood, or there might be some trouble with the arteries, or kidneys, or even with the liver, which would throw extra work on the heart.

Anything which makes the heart work harder is liable to result in an enlargement of the heart. The condition is very similar to that in the muscles of the arm. Every one is familiar with the enlargement of the muscles of the arm as the result of heavy work.

There is nothing to fear that the blood is too heavy and thick, and that you should thin it by diet or medicines. A person suffering from heart trouble should be under the care of a qualified physician, but he should be careful not to overexert himself, and should avoid running, hill climbing stair climbing and heavy lifting.

For details of treatment the physician's advice should be followed.

Q. Is leakage of the heart and valvular heart trouble the same as "heart murmur"? Am anxious to have my tonsils removed but I have been told by my physician I have a heart murmur and am afraid to take an anesthetic. What would you advise me to do?

A. They are not the same, though very frequently the murmur is caused by a leakage of the valves or some other form of valvular trouble. The "murmur" is the abnormal sound made by the heart, and is not necessarily due to any form of valvular trouble. Thus in anemia there is often a murmur even though there is nothing wrong with the heart valves. A murmur is relatively unimportant.

What is important is the manner in which the heart is able to carry on its work even in the face of handicaps. In other words, the degree to which the heart can compensate for the handicap, that is the prime consideration. If the heart is otherwise in good condition, and if there is good compensation an anesthetic may, perhaps, be well-borne. Even then, however, the anesthetic should be administered by an expert. You may also be interested to know that certain forms of operation for amputating enlarged tonsils are done without an anesthetic.

Q. I have been unable to do work for two years and over. Had the "flu" and now have indigestion very bad, but I am also troubled with something in my breast. When I walk any distance, my breast just aches and pains and my heart just aches and pains and beats very, very fast. My head aches, limbs tremble and runs to the small of the back. When I stop and sit down or lie down, I get better. I do not eat well, do not sleep much; and jerk so all over my body. I am very nervous. Please give me information as to what to do.

A. It is not possible merely from your letter to tell what may be the nature of your ailment. The very rapid heart action and distress on exertion might be due to some organic heart trouble.

Rapid heart action, shortness of breath, nervousness, sleeplessness and other symptoms also occur in disorders of the thyroid gland.

Finally, it may be mentioned that distress about the heart is often experienced as a result of indigestion, especially when there is much flatulence.

BRITISH GRATEFUL FOR U. S. AID WITH SILVER FOR INDIA

LONDON.—Newspapers today gave attention to the address of Lord Reading, viceroy of India, before the English speaking union on Saturday night, during which he told of the United States opening its treasury reserves to send silver to India during the war.

The newspapers expressed great appreciation of this action by the United States, which brought considerable relief to England when affairs in India appeared to be critical.

"Remembrance of acts like this," says the London Times, "should enable both peoples to judge a great deal of ill-considered talk with becoming contempt."

The Telegraph says the transaction was most eloquent of the value of American good will toward this country, adding: "When it comes to a pinch, even in wartime, such an act never could have been done if a deep lying sentiment had not been there to further it.

WEATHER POSTPONES ELKS' CARNIVAL BUT IT'S NOT CALLED OFF

Thousands of people who flocked to Pettibone park Sunday afternoon were disappointed because of weather which prevented the scheduled Elks' ice carnival.

Water stood several inches deep on the ice of the lagoon, and the tent which was to house the Elks' band stood in a puddle. Scores called up the Elks' club during the afternoon to find out whether any attempt would be made to put on the events scheduled.

"We are very sorry indeed that we could not put on the contests we had planned," said C. H. Collins, of the Elks' committee, "but it is only postponed. Just as soon as the weather is right we will hold the carnival, and if the skating is over for the season we may change the contests to something more seasonable and hold them anyhow."

PLAN COMMITTEE TO ELIMINATE NATION'S WASTE IN INDUSTRY

SYRACUSE, N. Y.—Appointment of a committee of noted engineers and technologists to eliminate the nation's waste in industry was before the convention of the American Engineering council Monday.

Herbert Hoover, president of the council, said the committee would be directed to make a national assay of waste. Nearly 200,000 engineers throughout the country will be called upon to aid. By studying the nation as a single industrial organism, they will attempt to locate, he added, weaknesses in the country's production system.

GREEK KING ENDS STRIKE

ATHENS.—Strikes on tramways and in railway electric power stations have been declared off following the action of King Constantine in receiving deputations and intervening in favor of the strikers.

PUT SHOULDER TO WHEEL IS HARDING PLEA TO NATION

Inaugural Message Will Urge People to Forget Disputes and Get Together

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla.—A plea that the nation forget the animosities and partisanship of the after-the-war period and put its shoulder unstintingly to the wheel of reconstruction, is expected to form the keynote of Warren G. Harding's message to his countrymen when he comes into the presidency.

Although the inaugural address still is far from complete, it was learned Monday that considerable work had been done toward its preparation and that the subjects it covers virtually have been selected. It is understood it will be very brief and will attempt no detailed discussion awaiting solution. One of the outstanding features is expected to be an appeal for confidence in the nation's business stability, linked with an assurance that during the next four years the administration will keep away from meddling methods in its relations with the business world.

Detailed statement of a taxation policy is to be reserved until congress has been called into special session, probably in April.

It is believed Mr. Harding's address will touch briefly on an international peace association and will tersely pledge the incoming administration to use its best efforts to secure a peace agreement compatible with American aspirations. There is expected also to be a word of friendship for Mexico and the rest of Latin-America.

Mr. Harding is devoting little time to the actual wording of the document, and most of the real work of putting his ideas into language probably will not be done until next week. He has a heavy appointment list during the next few days and by Saturday will have heard the advice of several prominent party leaders, including Charles Evans Hughes, generally understood to be the prospective secretary of state.

SIGNS OF SPRING

And still they come, and among them the surest sign of all that spring is here.

M. Hoff, Third street grocer, reported that the wood block paving in Cass street has begun to swell and get bumpy. Also new seeds have arrived in his store.

C. J. Sleer, chief clerk of the superintendent of the Burlington road is being entertained daily by an acrobatic spider that performs daily outside of his office window. Mr. Sleer says that the spider throws out a web across the window each day and performs many daredevil stunts.

Roland Puent, 608 North Eighteenth street, brought a branch of pussy willow that is budding, to the Tribune and Leader-Press office today. He said his mother had picked it Sunday in the marsh along the Green Bay tracks.

Sunday William Hanson picked up a nice, plump caterpillar that was disporting itself on the green sward at the country club.

EDUCATIONAL BILL TO GET HEARING ON FEBRUARY 25TH

Measure is Taken from Finance Committee and Referred to Education Committee

MADISON, Wis., — The bill to abolish the state board of education has been taken from its resting place in the assembly finance committee and, by request, referred to the assembly committee on education. When introduced, the measure was side tracked and for a time it looked as though the educational fight, which it is expected to precipitate, would be stayed until later in the session.

William Olson, Monroe assemblyman, who introduced the bill which was fostered by C. P. Cary superintendent of public instruction, found that it had not been scheduled for committee hearing, and after request had it referred to the committee on education.

Miles Hineman, of Tomah, chairman of the assembly education committee, said that he expected to have the bill posted for hearing on Friday of next week. A complete airing of the whole educational disturbance in the state will be given at that time when the superintendent of public instruction and Edward A. Fitzpatrick, secretary of the board of education, will express the views which each has held in abeyance.

Senator Skogmo's proposed re-organization plan for directing the school activities of the state is expected this week. He would subordinate the state superintendent of public instruction, making him a member of a new state board of education, which would control the inspection policies of the state and formulate educational policies.

The plan of Senator Duck for a single board administration of all educational activities of the state may not crystallize into bill form at this session, according to the senator. He favors abolition of the boards of normal and university regents and the substitution of a single administrative board of representative members.

C. P. Cary, superintendent of public instruction, will oppose all measures to make his office a part of a new system of educational administration on the ground that it is prostituting a constitutionally created position.

The Outlook For Canadian Pulpwood

According to a recent estimate, in Quebec there are 360,000,000 cords of all pulpwoods. Of this amount there are 150,000,000 cords of available spruce and balsam which, at the present rate of cutting, namely 3,000,000 cords per year, would give about 52 years' supply. It is estimated that there are, in Ontario, 230,000,000 cords of spruce and balsam. Of this it is estimated that at an early date the cut will be 1,300,000 cords, which indicates 67 years' supply. New Brunswick, with 36,000,000 cords of spruce and balsam, and an annual cut of 1,250,000 cords, has sufficient for a 29 years' supply.

Long Enough For Us

A government mining-engineer is quoted as saying that there is enough coal to supply American people for 6,000 years. Few persons have any interest extending beyond that time. It is a period as long as the traditional age of the world. If the soft coal lasts as far into the future as from the present time back to Adam there is no need of worrying. Some other experts say that the limit of our coal supply is 150 years at the most.

LLOYD GEORGE HAS A PARTY

SPARTA SCHOOL HEAD TO LEAVE IN JUNE FOR FT. ATKINSON

F. C. Bray Superintendent for Eight Years; American Legion to Give Minstrel

SPARTA, Wis.—F. C. Bray, principal of the city schools, will leave Sparta at the close of the school year in June. Mr. Bray has been superintendent here for the past eight years, and pupils and citizens will regret the departure of himself and family from the city. Mr. Bray has been offered the position of superintendent of the schools at Fort Atkinson, Wis., with the neat advance in salary of $600 the first year. At Sparta he has been paid $3,000, at Fort Atkinson he will receive $3,600 the first year, and the second year $3,800. Fort Atkinson has a new and modern school building, and the new position is in every way, most desirable.

The local American Legion Post has voted to put on a home talent minstrel show February 24 and 25. A ladies' auxiliary to the post is to be organized, and officers will be elected at the next meeting. The local post will send a basketball team to the state tournament.

Exchange Holds Meeting

The annual meeting of the Sparta Produce exchange was held in their hall on Saturday, one hundred and fifty members being present.

A complete report of the years' work was read by Manager Frank Kern. The exchange handled a total of 23,788 cases of strawberries, the average price for which was $2.58 per case. Four hundred and forty-seven cases of red raspberries, averaging a price of $4.28 for twenty-four pints. Eight hundred and thirty-seven cases of black berries were shipped, bringing an average price of $4.09 for twenty-four pints. The number of cases of black raspberries shipped was 245 which brought an average price of $4.47. Gooseberries and currants and other produce were also shipped by the association. The total cash paid out for the year was $201,824 in round figures and the total sales for the same length of time was $189,684. Each stockholder received a dividend of six per cent and every one felt well satisfied with the year's business. It was voted to build a sales pavilion on the property of the Fruit Exchange and a committee to attend to this matter, was appointed, consisting of Charles Van der Schaaf, Harry Jewett, J. T. Willgrubs, George Brooks and George Weiner.

The sales of the company for January showed a gain of thirty per cent over those of January of last year, and the finances of the association are in excellent condition.

The Franciscan Sisters of Perpetual Adoration report that during the past year 1146 surgical cases have been admitted to St. Mary's hospital in this city. Besides these there have been 844 medical cases, and one hundred and forty-five out patients treated. There were ninety births in the hospital and, twenty-nine deaths.

Fire Department Elects

The following officers have been elected by the local fire department and the appointments approved by the council: Chief, Wm. Baldwin; chairman, Wm. Tourville; secretary, G. M. McOmber; treasurer, A. F. Baldwin.

Postmaster William G. Schilhabel, Cataract, Wis., has received the appointment as local director of Uncle Sam's New Dollar a Week club. Every man, woman and child is eligible. The aim is to get 1,000,000 members. The purpose of the club is the creation of $25,000,000 this year. This is made possible by the new issues of treasury savings securities in denominations of $1 and $25.

The mothers and teachers of the ward and annex schools met February 2 with Mrs. H. W. Jefferson on Spring street for the purpose of organizing. About forty-eight were present. The next meeting will be held Wednesday, March 2 at the home of Mrs. H. W. Barney at three thirty o'clock. All mothers of children in the ward and annex schools are urged to be present.

The Fellahs of Egypt are believed to be the descendants of the old Egyptians, their features being remarkably like those found on ancient tomb paintings and sculptures.

19 EGGS A DAY FROM 23 HENS, IN WINTER

Mr. Dunl's Hens Increased Every Day, Plan is Easily Tried

"We have 23 chickens and hadn't had an egg all winter. In five days after feeding Don Sung, we got 4 to 5 eggs a day; in three weeks, we were getting 10 to 12 a day; in five weeks we got 15 eggs a day."—John Dunl, Box 102, Cherry Valley, Pa.

Mr. Dunl started giving Don Sung in January, in zero weather. He now keeps his hens busy in winter when hens usually loaf. A trial costs nothing. Here's our offer:

Give your hens Don Sung and watch results for one month. If you don't find that it pays for itself and pays you a good profit besides, simply tell us and your money will be cheerfully refunded.

Don Sung (Chinese for egg-laying) is a scientific tonic and conditioner. It is easily given in the feed, improves the hen's health and makes her stronger and more active. It tones up the egg-laying organs, and gets the eggs, no matter how cold or wet the weather.

Don Sung can be obtained promptly from your druggist or poultry remedy dealer, or send $1.04 (includes war tax) for a package by mail prepaid. Burrell-Dugger Co., 214 Columbia Bldg., Indianapolis, Ind.

SURFACE WATER IS USED IN 46 CITIES OF BADGER STATE

State Sanitary Engineer Reports on 1920 Activities of the Bureau

MADISON, Wis.—Wisconsin has 46 cities using surface waters, such as lakes and rivers, as sources of their public water supply. Ten of these supplies are filtered and chlorinated, twelve are chlorinated only, while 24 are untreated. The latter class constitute the greatest danger of transmitting disease. This is disclosed in the report of C. M. Baker, state sanitary engineer, reviewing activities of 1920 in a report rendered to the state department of engineering.

Ground water supplies are used in 224 cities and villages, and consist of 100 shallow wells, springs and infiltration galleries, and 124 artesian or deep wells. There are 270 public water supplies in the state.

Of 163 public sewerage systems, only 62 provide sewage treatment to render the wastes harmless, and 101 discharge raw sewage into lakes and streams. There are a total of 4,410 plants discharging industrial wastes, which contribute to general stream pollution affecting water supplies used for domestic consumption, fishing, bathing and other purposes. These wastes come from 139 canneries, 40 coal tar and gas plants, 3,954 milk products plants, 62 packing or rendering plants and tanneries, 63 paper and pulp mills, and 195 miscellaneous works. This makes a grand total of 4,834 sources of wastes and sewage that are a factor in water supply and stream pollution.

The report mentions that many plans for the treatment of sewage are very inefficiently operated and frequently by-passed, a fact requiring special attention to prevent outbreaks of disease.

Experimental work is being done by the bureau of sanitary engineering in co-operation with the state laboratory of hygiene in regard to the disposal of milk products and canning plant wastes, which furnish the most difficult disposal problems.

Big Fence Without a Break

Stretching across western Australia is a rabbit-tight fence, the longest in the world. It extends for a distance of 1,200 miles without a break except for gates. It begins in the temperate regions and ends in the tropics, and sometimes for nearly a hundred miles it does not pass a human habitation. The fence is divided into sections, each of which is under the control of an inspector. These inspectors have boundary riders, whose duty it is constantly ride up and down their section of the long barrier and keep it in effective condition. Since the fence was erected it has prevented hordes of rabbits from over running and devastating the region beyond.

TREAT COLDS AT ONCE WITH TURPO

People are inclined to neglect a cold, thinking it will pass off in a few days. Our experience in the past severe winters proves that colds do not "pass off." If neglected they rapidly develop into serious illness. In the early stages of a cold, if Turpo is applied up the nostrils, it has a clearing and antiseptic effect on the membrane and air passages, which gives immediate relief and stops the cold at once. If the cold has developed, Turpo applied to the neck and chest carries the medication right through the skin into the root of the trouble, relieving the congestion and inflammation.

Turpo is simply a combination of the old-fashioned remedies, distilled Turpentine, Camphor and Menthol, in a clear mineral base. It does not stain, burn or blister. It is soothing, antiseptic and healing. Doctors know its value and recommend it as a safe and reliable home remedy. Over 1500000 jars of Turpo are sold annually. Your druggist guarantees money back if not satisfied.

Sold in white opal jars with the orange and black label, at 30c and 60c.

EXPECT FAST TIME IN FOURTH ANNUAL HUDSON DOG DERBY

Change System This Year and Place Dogs Abreast Instead of in Single File

ONLY ONE OFFICIAL STOP ON 200-MILE COURSE

Sixty Percent of Distance to be Made Over Lakes

THE PAS—(By Canadian Press)—Fast time should feature the fourth annual Hudson Bay Dog Derby, to be held from here to Flin Flon and return, a distance of approximately 200 miles, for a purse of $2,500 March 1. The Alaskan method of racing has been adopted by the "mushers" and already a great improvement in the speed of the teams has been noted in the preliminary trials. What was thought to constitute a record when Coyne, the Derby winner of 1920, covered 100 miles in 13 hours and 14 minutes, has been beaten by the local racing teams in their workouts. One contestant driving a team of nine huskies covered 50 miles in 5 hours and 11 minutes. This is three miles an hour more than was possible under the old single-file system of harnessing when barely seven miles an hour could be made.

Dogs Abreast

This year a light racing harness and sled and the harnessing of two dogs abreast instead of the hitherto single file with a heavy harness and a carriole of considerable weight, is in vogue. The new sleigh weighs under 25 pounds and the total weight of the harness for 13 dogs will not average more than half a pound to a dog.

One of the great faults of the single-file system of driving was that going up hill it caused the entire weight of pull to fall on the dog nearest the carriole and destroyed whatever chance there was for speed in a pinch. It lessened the speed and uniform working of the team as a whole and at times it inflicted great hardship on the sleigh dog.

One Official Stop

On this year's course there are three hills to climb going and coming, but otherwise the route is an easy one over lakes and beaten trails where the ground is even. Probably 60 per cent of the distance is over lakes. This also is another factor for greater speed. A short rest at Flin Flon on the outgoing end, to feed and rub the dogs, is the only stop officially provided for and that only long enough for the cards to be signed and the dogs checked up. It is optionary with the drivers to remain as long as they like. In all other respects the race is a no-stop one.

The type of dogs in the race differs in only two respects from the reliable husky or wolf mongrel so familiar in Northern Manitoba and Saskatchewan. Stewart possesses a team of eleven Siberian coast dogs with very sharp pointed ears, low in the body and well lengthened. Coyne is the other exception with a team of 13 setters of the setter-mongrel type.

Exceptionally fast time has been made by Winterton driving Morgan's team of huskies in recent workouts. Larry McKay and Sam Pranteau have two high-class types of husky teams, wild and only partly controllable. Because he could not control them two years ago McKay lost the race.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn.—Jack Malone of St. Paul and Soldier Barfield of New York, welterweights, have been matched for a ten-round no decision bout here Feb. 25.

Baseball Gates Forever Closed To Indicted Sox

CHICAGO, Ill.—It is the opinion of many baseball fans that the indicted White Sox players may be back in the game this season should the state fail to convict them of the crime charged against them. Not many fans are familiar with either civil law or baseball law.

All are well aware of the fact, though, that three of the eight players went before the grand jury and under oath confessed to accepting money to toss off the games in the 1919 series with the Cincinnati Reds. Those confessions are on record, even if it may not be possible to introduce them as evidence in the trial.

Defense May Act Today

Attorneys for the indicted players will go before Judge Dever, in whose court the trial is to take place today or tomorrow, and petition the state to furnish a bill of particulars. That is a simple way of demanding that the state explain the charges of conspiracy in detail. Then it may be that these players who confessed will not take the witness stand during the trial and the state will be forced to provide evidence of a conspiracy from sources other than the confessions.

That, perhaps, makes it a difficult case for the state. Unless witnesses who were in the alleged conspiracy will take the stand and testify to that effect it may be difficult to produce evidence that a crime was committed. Perhaps a jury wouldn't render a verdict of guilty unless the proof was absolute.

Acquittal; Then Landis

When the trial is over, no matter what the verdict may be, the players will not get back into baseball until they have faced Judge Landis, supreme power in the national game. Baseball law is different than civil law. The game belongs to the people, and if there is a suspicion of something wrong connected with any player that player must clear himself before the commissioner.

Perhaps the state can't compel any of the indicted players, even those who confessed, to take the witness stand in a civil court, but Judge Landis can put any one in baseball on his private witness chair and ask him anything he desires. Just how any player involved in the recent grand jury investigation could explain things satisfactorily to the commissioner is hard to understand.

Judging by the opinions of experts on civil law and experts on baseball law, it is safe to predict that it may be a tough matter to convict the indicted players, but that not one of them ever will be back in organized baseball.

EAST WINS FROM GOLFERS OF WEST IN FLORIDA PLAY

BELLEAIR HEIGHTS, Fla.—The annual east-west golf match was played yesterday at Belleair in four ball matches, and the east repeated its victory of last season, 28 points to 22. Nearly 200 golfers took part, being registered from clubs all over the United States. Augustus of Cleveland and Schlotman of Detroit came home with the full quota of points.

George Ade, paired with Orl Wells of Chicago, defeated Clarence Buddington Kelland and H. P. Martin.

George Elkins of Philadelphia, paired with C. A. Hobart, son of former Vice President Hobart, won by one point from A. B. Schutiler and D. H. Mattison of Chicago.

On one of the shoulders of the mighty Himalayan peak Babrinath stands a celebrated temple of Visanu which some years attracts as many as 50,000 pilgrims.

NEW HIGH MARKS TO SHOOT AT MONDAY IN ST. PAUL TOURNEY

Leaders in all Events Were Displaced in Bowling During Saturday and Sunday

ST. PAUL, Minn.—Outside bowlers rolling in the tournament of the International Bowling association had new high marks to shoot at today. Leaders in all events were displaced yesterday and ten changes in the various standings among the first ten were recorded.

The tournament, which began Feb. 4, will be concluded Tuesday night.

Leaders follow:

Individual—M. Heerman, Chicago, 675; A. Steves, Oshkosh, 666; D. Aaron, Milwaukee, 660; M. Walters, St. Paul, 659; C. Ashley, Sioux City, Ia., 653; C. Kadd, Toledo, 652; E. Barth, Racine, 651; A. McKenzie, St. Cloud, 650; T. Neale, Omaha, 647; G. Vandertunk, St. Paul, 641; S. Gordon, St. Paul, 641.

Two-men—DeVito and Luby, Chicago, 1303; Kadd and Gazzola, Toledo 1255; Heerman and Kofora, Chicago, 1246; Stasch and Reimer, Minneapolis, 1245; Critchfield and Kremer Winona, 1223; Thoma and Raydl, Chicago, 1211; Walters and Hendricks, St. Paul, 1210; Hesterveld and Davis, Minneapolis, 1209; Leone and Wold, Duluth, 1209; Claytor and Christiansen, St. Paul, 1207.

Five-Men—Dutch American Syndicate, St. Louis, 2917; Harry Feichtinger, Minneapolis, 2902; St. Louis Hotels, Duluth, 2899; Van Engel Commission company, Milwaukee, 2874; Valdona Drugs No. 1 Chicago 2873; Harnold and Brothers, Chicago, 2864; Zeigler Chocolates, Milwaukee, 2870; Leitch Press, Winona, 2846; Security Nationals, Mason City, 2830; Omaha Alleys, Omaha, 2825.

MARQUETTE CAGERS DEFEAT OSHKOSH QUINTET SATURDAY

Exceptionally Close Guarding is Feature of Second Half of Play

OSHKOSH, Wis.—In a close game in which the result was doubtful until the last few minutes of play, Marquette university's basketball team defeated Oshkosh Normal here on Saturday by a 17 to 13 score.

Oshkosh scored the first basket, but the highly touted offense of the visitors was not idle thereafter, and ere the whistle blew ending the first half Marquette was riding on the long end of a 15 to 8 score.

The second half was featured by unusually tight guarding, the Hilltoppers scoring three points and the Normalites five.

Capt. O'Malley of Marquette was easily the star of the game, caging the ball from midfloor and from difficult angles. Dunn was replaced by Fitzgerald in the second half after four personal fouls had been called on the former player.

The defeat was the first suffered by Oshkosh since Marquette defeated them in 1919. Tuford, consistent guard, who was injured in the Michigan College of Mines game, was left at home. The combination which Coach Murray has been effectively using was somewhat weakened by his absence.

REDDY'S STABLE TOURS

PORTLAND, Ore.—Manager Jack Reddy of St. Paul is here with his entire stable of belters. It includes Johnny Tillman, Billy Misse and Bobby Ward. Reddy expects to do a lot of business.

COLLINS TO MEET APPLEBY MONDAY IN CUE TOURNEY

CLEVELAND, Ohio.—Percy Collins of Chicago, the champion, will meet Edgar Appleby of New York tonight in the principal game on today's program of the national amateur 18.2 balk line billiard championship tournament. The only other game was scheduled between Dr. A. I. Brown of Cleveland and Francis S. Appleby of New York.

Collins was leading the other six contestants with four victories and no defeats.

A defeat tonight will throw him in a tie with Charles Hadden of Dowagiac, who has won four games and lost one. The Appleby brothers were tied for third place with three victories and two defeats.

POSTPONE RACES BECAUSE OF POOR CONDITION OF ICE

The racing events scheduled to be held at Copeland rink Sunday evening, were postponed because of "dampness" and the poor condition of the ice.

It was announced that if the weather man permits, the races would be run off on an evening this week. There were six entries in the main race, while a boy's mile event was to have been run just before the men's race.

RIPON WINS LITTLE FIVE CONFERENCE BASKETBALL TITLE

Hold Lead Throughout Season; Defeated Beloit Saturday 34 to 12

RIPON, Wis.—Taking the lead at the start, and never being in danger of being overtaken at any stage of the game, the Ripon college cagers defeated the Beloit college basketeers here Saturday night, 34 to 12.

This victory over Beloit gives Ripon a clear title to the 1921 Little Five conference honors. They have won all the conference games played this season.

The Ripon cagers started off with a big spurt, and before the ten minute mark of the first period had been reached, every man on the team had scored a final goal. The first half ended, 23 to 7, favoring Ripon.

Gustin, star forward, who has been out of the game all this season, made his first appearance Saturday night and displayed wonderful ability at passing and shooting. Capt. Schneider of the Ripon quintet was easily the star of the game, being able to cage the baskets with great accuracy.

BILL BRENNAN'S GUESS

NEW YORK.—Bill Brennan thinks that because he stayed 12 rounds with Dempsey he's qualified to do a little prophesying. He says Willard will do well to last three rounds and Carpentier as long as he runs.

ADD SIGNS OF SPRING HARVARD BALL SQUAD IS CALLED TOGETHER

CAMBRIDGE, Mass.—Harvard undergraduates seeking honors with the varsity nine and with the crew, felt the urge of spring today when they were called together for a word from captains and coaches on the plans for the season's diamond and river campaigns. The baseball candidates comprised a likely looking lot with much of the strength of last season's team and accessions from the freshman nine of a year ago. The crew however, suffered losses by graduation and by the decision of Keith Kane to abandon his seat in the varsity boat because of his election as football captain.

LA CROSSE BOWLERS WIN PRIZE MONEY AT MILWAUKEE TOURNEY

Miller and Paulson Cop Tenth Place in Doubles Events; Roll 1178

The La Crosse hotel bowling team at the tournament held at Milwaukee last week placed sixty-eighth in the five man events in a field of 814 entries. The La Crosse bowlers received $107.28 in prizes at the tournament.

In the doubles events, Miller and Paulson landed in tenth position, receiving $57.50 total in prize money. They rolled 1178 in the event.

Four of the men came in for prizes in the individual events. They were Hunt, $9.50; Williams, $8.34; Mills, $8.00 Miller, $4.94.

Wittenberg and Paulson failed to register in the singles because of splits.

A team composed of Wittenberg, Williams, Schneeberger, Erickson, Smith and Scherrer went to St. Paul Sunday to participate in the I. B. A. tournament which is being held in that city. The doubles and singles events will be rolled Monday morning.

NEW YORK.—Earl Caddock, former world's champion wrestler, and Jim Londos, Greek claimant of the light-heavyweight championship, meet in a one fall finish match here tonight. Stanislaus Zbyszko and John Freyberg will meet in another bout.

SUGAR STOCKS STRONG

Advance in Market Price Brings Boost in Trading on Exchange

NEW YORK—Sugars made continued advance Monday on announcement of a general advance in the price of the refined product. Equipments, leathers and oils also improved with tobacco and motion pictures. Virtually all this advantage was cancelled before noon when the cheaper oils developed heaviness. Texas Pacific coal and oil dropped almost three points on extensive offerings. Sharp reversals elsewhere embraced United Fruit, Gulf States Steel and Bosch Magneto at reactions of two to three and one-half points. Call money was plentiful at seven per cent but time funds remained rigid. Exchange on London approximated its recent maximum quotation at 388½.

Resumption of trading on the stock exchange Monday after the prolonged recess was characterized by further selling of rails. Reading was again under especial pressure, forcing a large fraction. The prominent transcontinentals, notably Canadian Pacific, Northern Pacific and Southern Pacific also eased. Industrials as a whole were disposed to throw off last week's heaviness, particularly food and oil shares. Cuba Cane soon rose 1½ points and American Sugar gained almost as much. Domestic and Mexican oils were moderately higher and United States Rubber, Baldwin Locomotive, American International and Studebaker featured the other firm to strong stocks.

Highest prices of the day were made in the last hour. Mexican Petroleum, Crucible Steel and some of the equipments and rails were most conspicuous. The close was strong.

WHEAT SWINGS UPWARD

Market Displays Marked Strength Following Large Corn Sales

CHICAGO, Ill.—Wheat prices took a big upward swing Monday after showing weakness at the outset. Large export sales of corn was largely responsible for the change in sentiment regarding wheat. Bulls in the corn market made much of opinions that with hogs at present prices the current quotations on corn were far too low and that the crop, although large, would be readily absorbed. Wheat opened one cent to two and one-half cents lower, with March $1.63 to $1.64 and May $1.52½ to $1.53, but after declining a trifle more, advanced suddenly and in some cases showed a jump of four cents above Friday's finish.

Further reports about prospect crop damage from green bugs, together with assertions that the pest had been found in Illinois, led to additional upturns later. The close was strong, 4½ to 5½c net higher with March $1.70¼ to ½ and May $1.59 to ½.

Corn displayed strength from the start. After opening unchanged to ⅝c lower including May at 67⅞ to ⅝c the market scored a general upturn of about two cents a bushel.

Corn country offerings were small despite the bulge. Additional upturns took place and the market closed strong, 2⅝c to 3c net higher with May 70⅝ to ⅝c.

Oats ascended with other grain, starting unchanged to a shade off, May 44 to 44⅛c and then climbed more than one cent all around.

Higher quotations on hogs lifted provisions.

SLOGAN IS ADOPTED FOR HIGH SCHOOL

"Name it; we conquer it!"

Sounds good, but what is it? It's the High school slogan for the coming year.

This slogan was decided on as the best by a contest among all High school students. A great number were judged, and this is the one decided on that can best fill the bill. The author is Herbert Coulam, a former A. E. F. veteran, who is taking advantage of the government's offer to go to school and be paid besides.

The prize awarded is free admission to any and all High school activities including all athletic events, social hops, class plays, etc.

INEFFICIENT STORES HELP BOOST LIVING COST CLAIM EXPERTS

Large, Well-Organized Stores Urged in Bulletin of University Experiment Station

MADISON, Wis.—Small, inefficient stores are the cause of much of the heavy expense the consumer must bear, the agricultural experimental station of the University of Wisconsin declares in a bulletin dealing with the retailer and the consumer's dollar. As long as these inefficient stores remain in business food and service cannot be expected at lower costs, it is stated.

Large, well organized stores can buy their goods efficiently and because their volume of business is greater than the little stores they are able to give the customer the benefit of better buying and reduced costs of operation.

Consolidation of small stores is recommended in the report, since it is only by increasing the volume of business that efficiency and lower costs are possible. If they are not consolidated, improvement of retailing requires their elimination, the bulletin points out.

A large proportion of the retail food stores of Madison, which was taken to gather data, are shown to be small, almost four-fifths of them selling less than $50,000 worth of products annually. Nearly one-half of the $7,000,000 food supply of this city is said to be handled by these small firms.

Despite family and other "free" help the small storekeeper has, the operating expenses of large stores are calculated as below those of the small establishments. Operating expenses, in per cent of sales, of stores selling less than $20,000 annually is 14.6, while larger stores selling up to $100,000 annually is but 9.8.

Price cutting is a practice of small and inefficient stores only, the bulletin claims. The reduction of margins on some articles are usually balanced by higher margins on goods not advertised and sold as specialties. Efficient store managers buy at the lowest possible prices and sell at the highest prices obtainable, consistent with the efficient performance of their retail service, and solicit business by proving that customers can secure more for their money at their stores, rather than by cutting prices to attract trade.

The ideal of business in keeping with public interest is that based on maximum sales at lowest margins to secure similar aggregate profits. The large business houses can study means of cutting expenses and can hire efficient and expert help, while the small store is not in a position to do this.

Two ways of promoting efficiency in retail stores are suggested in the report. One is that a number of consumers organize into a co-operative society which, because of a steady large volume of business, could employ the highest grade of management. First-rate management could either force all of the small stores out of business or compel them to consolidate in order to survive.

The other method would be for consumers to concentrate their patronage on a number of suitably situated, efficient stores. The enlarged volume of business would justify lower expenses and margin.

As a last resort, some form of municipal commission work with state marketing officials might be developed to investigate and place before the public facts which indicate the conditions of retailing in respective localities, the report further suggests. All concerns which were in business and failed to furnish efficient retail service to the public could be closed by revocation of license.

Miles of Film

Usually 150,000 to 200,000 feet are run through the camera to get a six-reel or 6000-foot picture. The director stations three or four or five cameras to take the same scene. He has one camera close beside the struggling villain and hero, another grinding from an elevation, still another at this angle, one more at that angle. When all of these negatives are developed, parts of each enter into the composition of the completed reel.

AMATEUR MATCHMAKERS

BY GRACE SEWELL

The fire in the grate burned happily, spurring away just as if coal didn't cost somewhere around $19 a ton in Kenboro, and Lucile watched the thin blue flames that quivered over the top of the fire like dancing furies.

Roger Frear watched her adoringly. They had only been engaged a short time and each day he discovered new and entrancing beauties about his betrothed. He offered her a bright penny on the end of his finger and she flipped it away and turned bright, serious eyes upon him.

"I'm thinking about Aunt Barbara," she said. "She's not so old and she is still sweet and pretty in her own way—and she ought to get married."

"Of course she could if she wanted to," agreed Roger, who was in the state of mind where all of Lucile's relatives shone in the girl's reflected glory. "I heard my Uncle Don used to be sweet on Miss Barbara."

"Really?" gasped Lucile. "I believed I was the only one who guessed there was an old attachment between them. I wonder what parted them?"

"Perhaps he was scared stiff at the idea of proposing to a girl and it died a natural death," said Roger wise in his own recent experience.

"Were you afraid to ask me, Roger?" asked the girl shyly.

He shook his handsome head. "You helped me out a bit, you know," he confessed.

Lucile stiffened into hauteur and moved to the other end of the old sofa. "I was unaware that I helped one teeny bit," she protested. "Are you sorry that I didn't discourage you—or refuse you? It is not too late now!"

Roger slid along the sofa until his arms went around her proud young form. "Darling, you were perfect," he said, and she knew he meant it, "but don't let us quarrel over some foolish word, and perhaps be like Miss Barbara and Uncle Don, lonely and unhappy."

The girl's face changed to one of eagerness. "You are right, dear, our love is great and we must not fail to measure up to it. How can we help those two old young people to happy? You really, really believe Mr. Trevor cares yet?"

"Seems to, somehow. Barks out something now and then about her being a fine woman, and even said you did not measure up to Miss Barbara's beauty when she was your age—not like that!"

"It's not not and you know it, Roger Frear! I am proud to look like Aunt Bab and I should love to grow into a sweet middle age like hers. Suppose—you send her a valentine and I'll send him one—they might think—you know."

"Fine—let us go down to Mr. Potts' shop now." Bundled in furs the lovers walked briskly down the village street to a tiny stationer's shop in the center. Mr. Potts' shop had stood there for forty years, and the little old man had dispensed valentines and writing paper and other stationery to several generations of his fellow townspeople. Lucile and Roger found the old stationer all alone amid his depleted stock of valentines.

"The choicest have been selected, Mr. Frear," he explained.

"Haven't you got any old ones in stock? Not last year's or the year before that, but twenty or thirty years back—those dear, old lace paper things?" asked Lucile with a winning smile.

Mr. Potts became thoughtful. "I dessay I have," he admitted, "I don't sell out every year and there's a big box up in the loft here with a hodgepodge of valentines and greeting cards and such; there's cards with silk fringe all around, real beauties!"

"Let us see the box," said Roger. "I'll fetch it down, Mr. Potts."

"You'll get considerable dusty," said the old man, "but you're welcome to pull it down. Go up that ladder in the back room."

Presently Lucile and Roger were poring over cardboard boxes filled with old valentines which had not found a customer. The different layers marked the changes in the taste of the people, but at last they came to the ones they wanted. Delicate and fairylike in structure, with rather stilted verses, the old love missives had a tender appeal. They picked out a dozen, and paid lavishly for them. Mr. Potts was so pleased that he put the remainder on his counter to help out his thinning stock.

"Let us go home and each select one to send—I hope the dears will be pleased," chattered Lucile as they paused in front of the shop window to look at the display.

"Look there!" whispered Roger as some one entered the shop. Lucile stared at the trim, dignified form of Mr. Donald Trevor approach the counter and poke a gloved finger among the valentines.

"He is! He is buying one—that great lace butterfly one—you know Aunt Bab is fond of butterflies!" whispered Lucile. "Oh, Roger—see—it is Aunt Barbara and she is going in—"

Barbara Near met Mr. Trevor in the middle of the shop and there was a moment's hesitation, and then a little formal greeting, which seemed to melt at once, for Mr. Trevor displayed the valentine he had bought. Barbara blushed as he showed her the address on the envelope and she suddenly snatched the envelope and hugged it close to her heart. Donald stared incredulously, and then with a defiant glance at Mr. Potts, he tucked Barbara's hand under his arm and marched out of the store. The matchmakers fled down the street and landed breathlessly at either end of the sofa in the library.

"They won't want our valentines now," sighed Lucile happily.

"Let us send 'em to each other," declared Roger. "You can see it's never too late to send a valentine!"

Highest Food Authorities tell why Karo is one of the greatest of all energy-producing foods

Every father and mother should read this message

THERE is much more than the delicious taste of Karo to account for the fact that more than two hundred million cans were sold last year.

It's simple enough, when you know that Karo is perhaps the richest of all foods in Dextrose. And Dextrose is one of the most important food elements there is.

You could not live long without Dextrose

Most of the foods you eat—such as bread, starchy vegetables, and all forms of sugar—have to be changed into Dextrose before your system can use them as energy foods.

So Karo may almost be said to be a predigested food. These are scientific facts, supported by the very highest medical and food authorities. Send for the free booklet mentioned below and read the facts.

Karo is perfectly delicious—whether for cooking, baking, candy-making, or preserving. It's the best part of the breakfast for millions of people—on pancakes, hot biscuits, or as a spread on toast.

Your Protection

Do not be deceived by cans containing syrup that might look like Karo. The name "Karo" is on every can of original Karo—look for it, and be assured of full weight cans and highest quality.

BLUE Karo

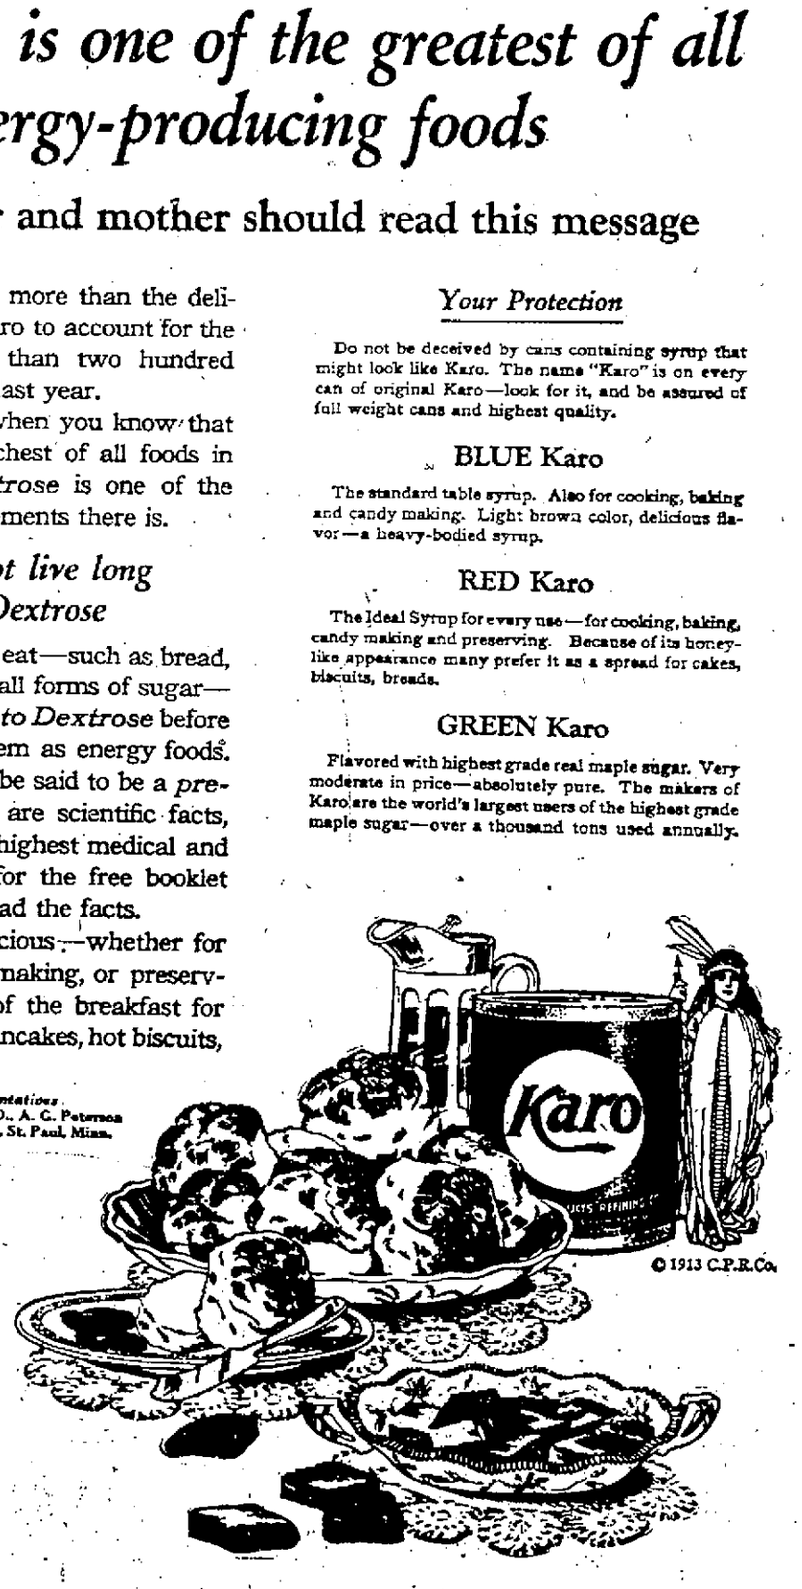
The standard table syrup. Also for cooking, baking and candy making. Light brown color, delicious flavor—a heavy-bodied syrup.

RED Karo

The Ideal Syrup for every use—for cooking, baking, candy making and preserving. Because of its honey-like appearance many prefer it as a spread for cakes, biscuits, breads.

GREEN Karo

Flavored with highest grade real maple sugar. Very moderate in price—absolutely pure. The makers of Karo are the world's largest users of the highest grade maple sugar—over a thousand tons used annually.



FREE A booklet every parent should read. Tells all about the wonderful food value of Karo; explains the meaning of Dextrose, and why children thrive on it. Sent free with the beautifully illustrated Corn Products Cook Book of 64 pages. Write Corn Products Refining Co., Argo, Ill.
